FOLK ALLIANCE WITH MACHINE IS INDICATED

Returns Showing More Counties for Cook and Allen Cause Surprise Among Those Who Expected Them to Be Headed Off.

COOK'S STRENGTH ALARMS REFORM CAMPAIGN BACKERS

Todd's Anticipated Success in St. Joseph Is Imperiled by Dominance of Judge Woodson, Machine Candidate for Supreme Bench.

It is daily becoming more apparent that some sort of an alliance, either tacit or explicit, has been made between the supporters of Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk and the Democratic state machine, as indicated by the returns from various counties which are pledging their delegations for Folk, Cook and Allen.

Saturday's results furnish striking support of this belief.

In Barton, Texas, Wright and Cedar counties Secretary of State Cook and Auditor Albert O. Allen, candidate for renomination, made a clean sweep, while Allen carried Scotland County, which Cook lost by a few votes.

If the Folk managers are opposed to Cook it would be naturally supposed they would make a fight against them, but in none of the counties mentioned was a word of protest heard against the man who is a confessed participant in a boodle deal, or against Auditor Allen, who receives his official orders from his predecessor, Excise Commissioner Seibert. In consequence Cook now has a total of 210 instructed delegates, while Allen's strength is equal.

R. W. Mitchell of Nevada and J. D. Todd of Maryville, Cook's leading opponents, are considered strong in their communities and both are looked upon as capable men.

The machine is doing now what it threatened months ago to do, namely, to hinder Mr. Folk by placing on the ticket with him men of odious official records, who have been faithful to the machine, to the influences back of the machine, and men who, if elected, would be able to obstruct any reform movement which the governor might wish to carry out.

Mr. Cook is now within 146 votes of the number required to insure his nomination.

Cook Not Far From Victory.

It is easy to see how he can get 146 if Mr. Folk does not declare himself.

The St. Louis delegation, 121 strong, as at present constituted, is for Cook, as it is also for Allen.

In Jackson County the friends of Mayor Reed intend to support Cook to a man. This means that the secretary will probably carry several wards, one-third if not one-half of the Jackson County delegation.

There is no certainty that J. D. Todd of Maryville will win in Bunchanan County.

Present conditions seem to justify the conclusion that Cook is stronger in Buchanan than Todd, as Judge Woodson, machine candidate for the Supreme bench, has shown great strength in St. Joseph.

It is urged that Mr. Folk's campaign manager, Congressman W. D. Vandiver, spoke out against Cook, and that that is sufficient.

But Mr. Vandiver put his opposition to Cook on the ground that Mr. Mitchell had been friendly to Folk, while Cook, or his friends, had opposed him. He did not say that the Folk organization would not tolerate Cook because of his record.

Before Circuit Attorney Folk exposed the Speed-Lyons-Cook bribery deal, the secretary of state was a candidate for governor. Instantly his boom collapsed.

Secretary's Office Important.

Now, his opponents ask, if Cook's connection with the payment of $800 to a state senator to suppress an anti-salary-grabbing bill rendered him ineligible for the governorship, why not for the office of secretary of state?

The banking and business interests of Missouri are intrusted in a material degree to the state secretary.

Every state bank is under his supervision, and Cook has not failed to make the most of this privilege. His bank examiners, in the pay of the state, have been conducting a canvass in his behalf.

The public-service corporations demand his renomination, because of the service he has rendered to them on the state board of equalization.

The Post-Dispatch has shown how the taxpayers of St. Louis, through the work of Cook and Allen, are compelled to pay double the rate of taxes that great corporate interests, which enjoy rich grants from the state, pay.

Specific instances were cited. The great Terminal monopoly, greater than any other institution of its kind in America, pays taxes on less than 15 per cent of its property holdings.

Up to a few years ago the Terminal Railroad Association was assessed at $3,[illegible],000. With the assistance of Cook and Allen, this assessment was reduced to $2,000,000

Slush Fund From Big Firms!

Why Cook and Allen should thus discriminate against the people and in favor of the corporations is manifest from the secretary's own statements, given under oath in the famous Cardwell case.

Cook confessed that the public-service corporations made up the Democratic slush fund! He admitted that the men who got legislative favors were among the machine's most generous contributors.

When he finished his task as chairman [illegible] the Democratic state committee, in [illegible] capacity he secured money from the [illegible]ations, he went into the business of [illegible]. He helped to secure the passage [illegible] bill legalizing the St. Louis street-[illegible] trust and of the breeders' law. [illegible]k now has more than 400 dele-[illegible] the solution of the whole embar-[illegible] political problem seems to rest in [illegible] politicians are repeatedly ask-[illegible]ing to do about it?

SHE ELOPED AND GUEST DID, TOO

CABANNE GIRL AND HER GUEST ELOPE

Miss Rauth, Accompanied Miss Wilson, Her Hostess, Wedding Gen. Funsten's Nephew.

The elopement of two St. Louis couples to Edwardsville, Ill., Sunday at midnight was due to the fact that a second admirer of one of the brides was in the city, and the fortunate man became fearful lest his choice should escape him.

The parties to the double wedding were Miss Ona Wilson of 5142 Cabanne avenue and Leonard G. Kalloch of Boston, Mass., and Miss Irene Rauth of Chicago and Fitz Hugh Lee Funsten, a nephew of Gen. Fred Funsten. Mr. Funsten resides at 5830 Clemens avenue. All are over age except Miss Rauth, who is 17. There was no reason why they should have eloped to Edwardsville except to add a further touch of romance. Miss Rauth has been the guest of Miss Wilson, and met Mr. Funsten at her friend's house only a few months ago.

Miss Wilson had a number of ardent admirers and two happened to reach the city at the same time, Mr. Kalloch and another. When the situation became known to Mr. Kalloch several days ago, with true Yankee sagacity, he decided to do all in his power to have the wedding ceremony performed immediately, not that he was not sure of his ground at the present time, but not knowing what the future might bring forth. He menioned his desire to Miss Wilson Saturday, but she did not give him yes nor no for an answer.

Sunday morning, however, she told her father that she was married to Mr. Kalloch, later saying she was just joking.

Plans Were Laid Sunday.

Sunday afternoon, the four young people met at the home of Miss Wilson. They secretly talked over a wedding in some nearby town, and Miss Rauth and Mr. Funsten agreed to accompany them. Miss Wilson chose Edwardsville and accordingly, the party of four left Sunday evening for the Illinois town. Reaching it, they found all dark, but finally they came to the Leland hotel, where they explained the situation to the night clerk, Edward Chapman, who gallantly offered his services. He sent for County Clerk William Darch and County Judge John E. Hillskotter.

While the license wes being issued for Miss Wilson and Mr. Kalloch, Mr. Funsten remarked, "You might just as well make one out for us, too."

As Miss Rauth did not say no, the second license was issued and the two couples were married at the same time by the county judge.

Neither of the families was greatly surprised when it received the announcement of the weddings. They had been expecting it, though not quite so soon.

D. W. Wilson, father of Miss Ona Wilson, said to the Post-Dispatch that he supposed his daughter was engaged to Mr. Kalloch, but that he had no idea they were to be married yesterday. He did not think it strange when they had not returned at a late hour Sunday, as they often went to the theater and did not reach home until nearly midnight. Miss Ona was his only daughter, and he hated to lose her from the family circle, but said it would not be so hard for him as for the parents of Miss Rauth, as she was an only child and only 17 years old, while there were other children in the Wilson family.

Funsten Was Visiting, Too

Mrs. R. E. Funsten, mother of one of the young men, said she was not greatly surprised, as she had known her son was keeping company with Miss Rauth. She was certain, however, that he had no intention of being married Sunday at the time he left home in the afternoon. She said he had been residing in Chicago until the past few months, and was to be in the city now only during the Fair.

The young people are well known in Cabanne society and all are members of prominent families. Mr. Funsten attended school in St. Louis several years ago and was very prominent in school athletics, especially in football.

The young people had not returned home Monday morning, and Mr. Wilson said he thought they would probably go to Chicago before returning to St. Louis. In no case is there any doubt of parental forgiveness.

MINISTERS URGE ATTENDING FAIR

East St. Louis Divines Make a Unanimous Appeal From Pulpits for Big Attendance.

Admonitions to attend the Fair next Saturday were delivered by ministers in nearly every pulpit of East St. Louis Sunday. In many of the Catholic churches the speakers declared that persons who intended visiting the Fair during the week ought to postpone their visits until Saturday.

The children of the East Side schools will furnish a chorus of 1200 voices to take part in the exercises to be held in Festival hall. They will be taken to the Fair on East Side electric cars. Mayor Silas Cook will be one of the speakers of the day.

RUSSIANS HEAR FOUR JAP SHIPS HAVE BEEN SUNK

Port Arthur Squadron, According to Rumors, Made a Sortie, Headed by Torpedo Boats, and Caught Togo's Fleet Off Guard.

BESIEGING FORCE NOW IN FIVE MILES OF THE ENEMY

Lines Are Stretched Completely Across the Peninsula and All Are Moving Simultaneously to the Reduction of the City.

LIAO YANG, June 6.—It is persistently reported here that the Port Arthur squadron made a sortie shortly before dawn Saturday, with the torpedo boat destroyers leading, and found the Japanese fleet quite unsuspecting the presence of hostile warships, with the result that four of the Japanese ships were sunk during the fight.

Special Cable to the New York World and Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 6.—The Cheefoo correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs:

"The lines of the Japanese army investing Port Arthur now extend completely across the peninsula and are from 12 to 14 miles distant from the fortress.

"The lines are being advanced gradually; in fact, the Japanese outposts are within four miles of the land defenses."

KUROPATKIN'S ENEMIES PLAN TO PUT CZAR AGAINST HIM.

Special Cable to the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1904, by the Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, June 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News telegraphs:

"The report that a special council of war was convened by the czar has been confirmed.

"The czar has decided to order Gen. Kuropatkin to send 45,000 troops to Port Arthur's relief. This decision was taken against the advice of a majority of the council and on representations by Minister of War Sakharoff and Grand Duke Vladimir.

"The order has not yet been sent and many officials in high positions are doing their best to persuade the czar to change his mind. The councillors, on whose advice the momentous decision is based, are known to be unfriendly to Kuropatkin."

RUSSIA FEARS WE WILL GIVE PHILIPPINES TO JAPAN

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—The Novoe Vremya today discusses quite seriously the report that the United States intends to cede the Philippines to Japan, and argues that the far-seeing Yankee, anticipating the inevitable future conflict with Japan prefers to sell the islands instead of defending them, having thereby learned Russia's lesson of the present war, namely, the difficulty of holding territory so far from the base. The paper adds:

"Europe certainly was not pleased with the exchange of Spanish for American domination in the Philippines, but the latter is a thousand times more agreeable than to see Japan installed there, where she would be a constant menace to Europe's Asiatic interests. England will have to look well to her position in India, France, Indo-China, and even Holland to Java. The only consolation is that the cession may keep Japan quiet for a number of years."

The military attache of a first-class power has telegraphed here that Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters staff has moved 40 miles south of Liao-Yang to a point between Hai-Cheng and Dashitszaio.

HERE IS REAL FAIR WEATHER

Mild Temperature and Light Breezes Are Scheduled for the Next 24 Hours.

The sun shines once again, and the weather man assures a long showered public that a measure of relief may be expected for at least a day or two. Such weather as the gods themselves might wish is now promised St. Louis.

Fair skies, mild temperature and light breezes are predicted.

THEY HAD A BULLY TIME OUT IN THE COUNTY YESTER-DAY

A circus owner or a promoter of a bull fight or a Sunday school picnic could not wish for better conditions.

Out at the Fair the entire official staff, from Dave Francis down to the most humble clerk in the department of admissions, is enveloped in a broad halo of smiles.

The official forecast: "Fair tonight and Tuesday; mild temperature; light variable winds."

That St. Louis escaped the downpour Sunday may be marveled at, for the prediction promised rain here and rain fell all around St. Louis, in the Gulf states, in the Ohio, upper Mississippi valley and lake region.

RIVER RISING AT RAPID RATE

Thirty-Foot Stage Will Be Reached Next Thursday, Says Harbor Commission.

In the 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock Monday morning, the river rose 2.7 feet, the stage Monday morning being 27.5 feet.

At the harbor commissioner's office it was stated Monday that the indications are that the river will not go over 30 feet, and that that stage will be reached by Thursday.

12 KILLED BY DYNAMITERS IN COLORADO'S LABOR WAR

INFERNAL MACHINE THAT DID IT FOUND

Troops Are Sent to Scene in Anticipation of Trouble, and the Whole Cripple Creek District Is in Turmoil.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 6.—An explosion at the Independence station of the Florence & Cripple Creek Railroad in the Cripple Creek district early today killed 12 men and injured nine others.

The explosion was undoubtedly caused by dynamite which had been laid under the center of the platform and which was set off by the incoming train.

The officials of the company and special detectives are now working on the case.

The Victor militia, under Capt. Moore, has been ordered out and trouble is expected.

Detectives found the machine which set off the dynamite under the platform. It consists of a revolver and 300 feet of steel wire.

The revolver was placed underneath the platform, close to the powder. The other end of the wire was fastened to a chair leg which was used as a lever from the curbing of a neighboring property.

The whole district is in a turmoil.

The miners killed and injured were all employed on the Findlay property and had just come off shift. They were waiting to take the train and it is supposed that the alleged plot was laid to catch these men.

A special train unloaded the remains of the killed at the depot in Victor. Three wagons and railroad truck were required quired to transport them to the morgue.

The identified dead are:

ALEX M'LAIN, shift boss.
J. HARTSOCK.
M. SHANCLAIN.
JOSEPH SINCLAIR.
GUS AUGUSTINE, age 33.
ARTHUR MUHLESON, 35.
HENRY J. HAG.
ELECK M'LAIN, shift boss.
CHARLES E. BARBER.
HERBERT M'COY.
L. S. SHINKLIN, cager.
—— HARTZELL.
—— BERKELEY.

It is belived the dynamite plot is a development of the labor troubles that have kept the state in a turmoil for over a year.

Witness Tells How Explosion Occurred.

The train had not arrived at the Independence depot, but was within a short distance of it when the explosion occurred.

About 45 or 50 miners from the Shurtloff, Findlay and Lost Dollar mines had gathered at the depot platform, and they were blown into the air in every direction.

One man's body, cut in two, was found 100 yards from the scene of the explosion.

Seven bodies were laid out together and the remnants of others were secured as fast as possible.

On account of the terrible nature of their wounds, identification was difficult.

Charles Rector of the Shurtloff mine, describes the explosion:

"There were about 50 or 60 of us," he said, "waiting for our train, which was coming up the road a few hundred yards distant.

"A number of miners who had not reached the depot were running toward it, with their dinner buckets in hand.

"The train approached the depot at a moderate rate and the crowd on the platform began to move around so as to secure points of vantage in getting aboard as soon as the train stopped.

"At this moment a great explosion occurred right under our feet. The impact shook the buildings in the town and everything became absolutely dark."

Depot Rent Into Splinters.

"A few moments later the groans [illegible] injured were heard and rescuers ran [illegible] residences and stores to the scene.

"I was uninjured. The depot, the platform and the surrounding objects were rent into splinters.

"The work of rescue was begun at once. Six badly wounded miners were picked up at different points near the scene and were quickly carried to the train and sent to Victor. The dead were found after much difficulty. There was almost darkness in the vicinity."

The train was in charge of Engineer W. W. Rush and Fireman James Gardner, who escaped unhurt. The train consisted of two large passenger coaches and was without passengers, as this was the first trip of the morning and Independence was the first station where passengers were expected.

It is supposed that at least 200 pounds of dynamite must have been used to produce such an explosion. The depot was entirely destroyed. The ground on which it stood shows a great gash as if an earthquake had torn up the country and left this yawning cavity to remind the people of a great upheaval. The impact of the explosion was felt in every direction. The miners who stood on the platform were literally shot far into the air.

There are 75 yards of wire which was used to pull the trigger of the revolver which fired the immense charge of powder. The rest end of the wire was uncovered at [illegible] by a railway construction gang. [illegible] was run out alongside the [illegible]

ALL THAT REMAINS OF THE SPANISH BULL FIGHT AMPHITHEATER

Going to See Spanish Matadors and Picadors in Sanguinary Sport of Ring, and Getting Neither Show Nor Return of Money, Spectators Show Toreadors How to "Fight" Bulls, Which Prove Tame as Sheep.

This detailed story of yesterday's remarkable happenings at the opening of the Spanish bull fights, which were to have continued here all summer, is by a Post-Dispatch writer who was there through the whole series of swiftly-following incidents, and who witnessed the bull fight put on by the mob after the place had been deserted by the Spanish bull fighters and the management. It is the true story of an eye-witness, who was there from the time the performance began until the amphitheater was burned.

BY CLARK M'ADAMS.

The bullfight in St. Louis is dead.

Long rest the bullfight.

It went down and out Sunday afternoon in a remarkable series of dramatic and laughable happenings that have not been equaled in some respects since one-half of Rome howled for glee while the other half burned.

Eight thousand persons paid $1 each to see the bullfight in a brand new big amphitheater upon the hill between the Stadium and the Epworth Hotel. The authorities stopped the fight even before it began, and the management refused to return the entrance money. This was at ten minutes before 5 o'clock. Twenty minutes later the crowd, now a mob, began wrecking the amusement company's office, and there was a riot in which windows were smashed, in which pistols flashed, and out of which came many a bleeding and broken head.

Thirty minutes later the mob had returned to the big amphitheater, had brought in the bulls, taken possession of the bullfighting paraphernalia of the Spanish matadors, and was giving a bullfight of its own, with three bulls in the ring, a dozen American bullfighters badgering them with red serapes and thrusting them with small canes, while the mob, delirious with joy, howled like the bander-log and pelted the pestered bulls with chairs, bottled soda water, oranges and bananas.

An hour and 10 minutes after the refusal to refund the money, the mob freed the seven bulls and the eight horses of the picadors, sent them scurrying across fields out of harm's way, and deliberately fired the big amphitheatre, compelling the bullfighters, who were eating dinner in rooms under the grandstand, to flee for their lives, giving the World's Fair special fire department the first severe fright it has had, and burning to a black round scar on the ground one of the biggest amphitheater around St. Louis.

Crowd Frees Arrested Men.

As a result of this remarkable debacle, the Norris Amusement Co., headed by Richard Norris, is out $12,000, the difference between the cost of the amphitheater and the gate receipts; the prospect for the summer of bullfighting they purposed having at St. Louis is ominous indeed, and the bullfighters who came here from Spain on a five-months' contract are in much uneasiness concerning their jobs.

Dozens of men and boys were arrested during this two hours of rioting and burning out at the bullfighting arena, but the rioters arrested were so hotly defended by their fellows that only two boys and two men are in jail. They are Arthur Kahlin, of 2706 Howard street; Edward Barrell, of the Inside Inn; George Gobel, of 4174 Morgan street, and Ross Allen, of 1405 Dillon street. The first two, who are boys, are charged with incendiarism; the others are held on charges of destruction of property and disturbing the peace.

Richard Norris, who promoted the fake bullfight which thus endangered the Fair with fire and provoked a crowd to riotous destruction, fighting and defiance of the law, says the bullfight was to have been a skillful imitation of the real thing; that the authorities stopped the performance before an opportunity had been given to show what it was to be like; that the company has sunk $60,000 in the venture and will rebuild the amphitheater, being in too deep to back out; that the county court of St. Louis County had licensed an exhibition of the sort that did not violate the law, and that the humane societies are responsible for the spectacular coup de grace given the bullfight by the people.

Day of Days for Bullfight.

The skies over sunny Spain were ne'er so fair as those over the big bullfighting arena yesterday noon. It was a day of days for bullfighting. How the gold and gilt of he matador's braided waistcoat would dazzle the Americano in that brilliant light. How the long Spanish streamers would crack and float at the top of the arena in that splendid breeze. How the red serapes glow, and how the bright Toledo blades of the gallant bullfighters would flash in the sun.

Caramba, but this thing was turning out lovely.

The show was ready. The big amphitheater was built, the ring was made firm with cinders, the bulls were in the pens behind, the horses of the picadors fed in their stalls, and the imported bullfighters smoked and chatted in their quarters, awaiting the word to come forth and spread their brilliant plumage.

At 1:45 o'clock the Cummins Wild West show came over the Pike. Indians, cowboys and Cossacks rode and marched in a long and colorful procession and massed on the west side of the bull-fighting arena. A few minutes later the vanguard of the crowd came. The bull-fighting arena was not easily found, for it was out in the fields a quarter of a mile southwest of the Epworth Hotel. But the management had posted men with megaphones along the street car lines, and these had pointed the way to the fight.

The arena seated some 12,000. By 2:15 it was half full. Everybody was paying $1. It was rather more than they had expected to pay—but bull fights are rare in St. Louis.

Crowd Is On the Qui Vive.

At 2:45 o'clock there were some 8000 in the amphitheater. It was now quite nicely filled. The major portion of the audience was there to see the bullfight. A small part of it was there to see what would happen when the authorities had said there would not be a bullfight and the management had insisted there would. I was one of this number of those who were there to see what happened. I saw it all, from the beginning unto the smoldering end.

Half of Crowd Must Be Shown.

Representatives of the humane societies occupied two of the boxes. Deputies from the sheriff's office at Clayton clustered about the entrance. Two city policemen loomed up on the east side.

It was a polyglot crowd. Pretty much everyone from the Pike was there. The Spaniard, who was homesick for a bit of his favorite sport, was [illegible] in host with his lady. The little [illegible] were numerous around on the [illegible] Indians. A[illegible]—they were [illegible] counted one [illegible]

ST. LOUIS BOAT, "JOSIE," BURNS

Cuts Loose From Barges at Cape Girardeau and Floats Behind Island—Is Total Loss.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAIRO, Ill., June 6.—The officers of the steamer Exporter which arrived here this morning from St. Louis, report that the steamer Josie of St. Louis, the property of Capt. J. F. Leibke, caught fire at Cape Girardeau about 2 o'clock this morning. She cut loose from her three barges and ran adrift floating behind an island opposite Commerce, Mo., ten miles below Cape Girardeau where she burned to the water's edge. No lives were lost. The boat is a total loss.

POCKET PICKED IN POSTOFFICE

Joplin Physician Had a $300 Diamond Ring in His Pocket, Which Thief Missed.

While Dr. R. C. Still of Joplin was standing at the writing desk in the postoffice lobby Monday morning, writing to his wife to tell her he had just purchased her a $300 diamond ring, his pocket was picked.

No, he didn't lose the ring.

But he did lose his bank book and a number of valuable papers.

Dr. Still was expecting his wife to join him in St. Louis in a few days to visit the Fair. He lost a 1000-mile mileage book, but as the thief got neither his money nor the diamond he will get home,

HUNG HIMSELF TO POST

Henry Lawrence Makes Rope of Sheets and Is Found Dead by Daughter.

Henry Lawrence, aged 73 years, committed suicide Monday morning by hanging himself with a rope made from a sheet in the attic at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William B. Janis, 4146 Wyoming avenue.

When his son-in-law, Mr. Janis, went to call him, at 11 o'clock this morning, he found his room deserted, and soon afterward discovered that the door to the attic was barred from the inside. The door was broken down and the body was found hanging there to a rafter.

Mr. Lawrence's wife left him some time ago and is living now at 3933 Kennerly avenue. He has been in ill health and despondent the last three weeks and frequently threatened to put an end to his troubles. He has been living with his son-in-law and daughter since the separation from his wife. He retired Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock and was not seen again till the suicide was discovered to-day.

TWO JUDGES FOR SUMMER.

Foster and Ryan Will Preside Over Vacation Session.

At a meeting in general session of the judges of the circuit court of St. Louis, Robert M. Foster and O'Neill Ryan were appointed to sit during the summer term.

Heretofore it has been the custom to appoint but one judge during the heated season, but the pressure of court work occasioned by increased litigation made the selection of two judges necessary.

BOAT CAPTAINS GIVE BOND.

Four Are Held as Result of Post-Dispatch's Gambling Expose.

The four indicted steamboat captains, charged by the grandjury with permitting gambling on their excursion steamers, in line with the Post-Dispatch expose of steamboat gambling, appeared before the Court of Criminal Correction Monday morning, and gave bond in the sum of $1000 each.

BULLFIGHT CROWD BURNS PAVILION

above another much as they must have been when they were all building the Tower of Babel.

Evidently, the bullfight was to make a hit with the foreigners in St. Louis. They made up half of the crowd. The other half was pretty much from Missouri. It was the noisy half. Even before the Cummings show began its preface to the bullfight, the Missouri half of the audience began to demand:

"Show us the bulls!"

There was no sign of the bullfighters, nor any of the bulls. These were for the exciting hour of action—not for the hour of curious looking on.

The Cummings Wild West show began at 3 o'clock. It fell flat as a flounder.

"Away with it," cried the crowd, demanding bulls and bulls only.

"This is Red Cloud, the famous chief of all the Sioux," shouted the announcer as a painted and feathered Indian dashed into the ring.

"Heraus mit 'im!"

"Is he a bull fighter?"

"Where's Sitting Bull for a starter?"

"To the woods with you, Red Cloud!"

"Get out, you never saw Spain!"

"Bully, but give us the bulls!"

Red Clould was astounded. Such indignities had never been heaped upon his chieftain's head in all his days. He looked as if he would scalp the clamoring crowd. He blinked his eyes. He looked wicked and decidedly uncomfortable.

"William Sitting Bull, one of the most famous of Indian chiefs," shouted the announcer as another Indian dashed in.

"Rodents!"

"Back up, Willie Sitting Bull!"

"We want a bull, not a Sitting Bull"

"Willie, are you a matador?"

"Did you ever see a real bull?"

"Out of the bullring, you bull-faced buzzard!"

"Give us the bulls!"

"Did the Spaniards miss the ship?"

William Sitting Bull looked in a mood to attack the crowd with his savage band, but he sat his pony and held his tongue.

"The celebrated Prince Saddlewinsky and his rough-riding Cossacks!" shouted the announcer, when the crowd had driven the Indians out.

"Cut it out!"

"Sic the Japs on 'em!"

"Is this a muskox fight?"

"They don't wear coats like that in Spain, do they?"

"Disappear!"

"Fade away!"

"Get you, you buttinskys!"

"Prince, you're delaying the fight!"

Richard Vance, official announcer for the bullfighting company, went into the arena and tried to pacify the crowd. It was useless.

"Give us the bullfight!"

"Look out for the bull!"

"We don't want to hear your speech. We want to see your bullfight!"

"Have we got in the wrong place?"

"You're not from Spain, either."

"Hello, ain't you from the stockyards?"

Vance tried to be patient, but the crowd was too much for him. He shouted:

"You mustn't think because you're wearing men's clothes that you're gentlemen!"

Then he retired.

The Indian lacrosse team came on. Their lively scrimmages interested the crowd for a moment. Straightway the howl for the bullfight was renewed.

The Cummings show took its $500 out of the gate receipts and withdrew, some of the performers taking seats in the amphitheater.

The howls of the hoi polloi quieted for a moment. The west gate was opening. The gold braid of a bull fighter's coat flashed at the entrance, and the crowd leaped to its feet, shouting wildly:

"They come!"

Eight bull fighters entered the bull ring and walked around, bowing and smiling, while the crowd applauded and indulged in such expressions as:

"Alphonso, you're late!"

"We've waited, honey, waited long for you!"

"What kind of clocks do you have in Spain?"

"They tried to give us a substitute for you, boys, but we wouldn't have it!"

The bull fighters stopped in the center of the ring and Vance introduced the matador, Cervera.

"This is one of the most famous bull fighters Spain has ever had, the favorite matador of the King," said Vance. Cervera bowed low and smiled as sweet as a clover field. He was a picture. The plump, athletic figure was glorious in black and gold.

Enter Deputies With Papers.

Boys in glaring blue shirts ran out and flung serapes and flaunting cloths over the rail of the ring. Others picked up the big cinders and cast them out.

"This is more like it," shouted the crowd, warming up to the promise of the moment.

Vance turned to present the picadors, when three deputies from the sheriff's office at Clayton stepped into the ring and hurried to him, flashing a paper right under his nose.

The crowd understood, and half the people in the amphitheater arose and shouted:

"Let him alone!"

H. A. Colledge, manager of the fight, rushed out to protest. He lost his temper and the deputies grappled with him. Norris, the owner and promoter of the show, rushed out and quieted Colledge.

By this time there were more than a dozen deputies in the ring. They led Colledge away. Vance lifted his hand and quieted the crowd:

"The governor of the state has stopped the performance. It is useless for us to resist."

Vance walked toward the gate, and the crowd was perfectly quiet for a moment, watching the bullfighters. These worthies from Spain had an expression of countenance that was worth paying a dollar to see. Pity, contempt and toleration stood out in plain relief upon those dark Castilian faces.

A moment later the crowd arose and started out. There was no unanimous exclamation of anger. There was more rude joking about being "faked."

Jingle of Glass Maddens Crowd.

Half of the crowd went straight from the place and over to the street cars. The other half remained. Here and there was a man who shouted:

"Let's stay until we get our money back!"

The booths from which the tickets had been sold were deserted. Jokers from the crowd entered them, thrust their heads out and shouted:

"Come and get your money back!"

The crowd laughed, and seemed satisfied.

Ten minutes later some 2000 people were about the company's office, which has 50 feet east of the amphitheater. They were not clamoring for their money, but they acted like they rather expected it. The officers had taken Colledge into the office, and it was supposed by the crowd that the money was in there. Colledge was preparing to give bond when the officers released him, inasmuch as he had not started his performance when placed under arrest.

The murmurings outside grew a little. Finally a boy threw a cinder through the glass in the front door. Instantly there was a cry of:

"Wreck the place!"

Cinders and stones and sticks flew through windows. The deputy sheriffs rushed out and clashed with the crowd. There were cries and crashings, and the bullfight had led to a riot.

The deputy sheriffs clubbed their revolvers at first, and then turned the muzzles of them on the crowd. There was some lively fighting, but the crowd, being without arms, was driven back.

This fighting and rioting around the building continued for half an hour. Meanwhile, the crowd became satisfied that the money had been taken away. Colledge and Norris were not known sufficiently to be singled out, and they disappeared.

It was then that the crowd set out upon the most remarkable numbers of the varied program.

The people went back into the amphitheater, More than a thousand of them returned, and another five hundred remained outside.

By some freak of mind, they hit upon the idea of giving a bull fight of their own. They went around to the pens behind the arena and drove in three of the seven bulls.

Bulls Are Most Mild-Mannered.

The crowd has supposed that the bulls were of the fierce Andalusian variety famous in the Spanish bull ring. When the three animals trotted in and the mob saw nothing more than kind-eyed steers, with long horns and lean sides, there was a howl of derision.

"Get in the ring with them!"

The suggestion was cheered to the echo, and into the ring went a youth. He ran in front of the fake bulls, and they never lifted their heads. He gave one of the steers a sharp twist of the tail.

Get Money's Worth After All.

I am sure the bull fight given by the mob must come very near to being the funniest thing that ever happened.

People shrieked and rolled on the seats with laughter.

Boys snatched the red serapes left on the rail by the bull fighters. They rushed upon the "bulls," waving the red fabric in their faces.

The "bulls" backed away and ran in terror.

The crowd became crazy with joy.

A boy of 15 years, nicely dressed in blue serge, took a red serape and a small cane and fought one of the "bulls" in true matador fashion. He flirted the "bull" over the nose with the rag and thrust at him with his cane.

The "bull" fell over backward and scrambled to its feet, rushing from the little matador with tears fairly streaming down its cheeks.

The boy went after him. He headed him off, turned him and badgered him until the steer, his head down and his tail up, ran around and around the arena, hunting hard for the way out.

Joy drove the mob insane.

Well dressed and apparently respectable men and boys rushed out of the amphitheater and upon the fruit and soda water stands outside. They snatched up anything they could lay hands on, knocked the proprietors down and rushed back to the bull ring.

By this time there were half a dozen boys in the ring. They were chasing the "bulls" hard with the red flags.

A woman from one of the humane societies leaped over the rail and down into the arena.

"Bravo, even the women are not afraid of them," cried the crowd.

The woman tried to open the gate and let the pestered "bulls" out, but the crowd would not have it. Whenever one of the fright-crazed animals rushed to the gate, the mob deluged it with a volley of chairs, oranges, bananas, popcorn and soda bottles, driving it back to its tormenters.

People thronged the boxes and the whole rim of the ring. They hurled chairs and tore down the boxes to get missles to fling at the "bulls."

"Fake, the bulls are from East St. Louis," cried the crowd.

Men and women sank in exhaustion with laughter.

"This is a better bullfight than Spain ever dreamed of," said the mob, filling the air with missiles.

"O, the bum steers."

"It wouldn't have been any good, anyway."

"Look out, lady, for the cows."

"Kill him, matador, brave little matador."

"Don't hurt the poor bulls. They can't help it."

The "bulls" jumped about in the mass of wreckage, with chairs about their legs, so thick they could scarcely get across the ring.

The boys went after them, pell-mell, still waving the red flags.

One of the bullfighters from Spain, who was eating his dinner under the amphitheater, showed his head over the rail and was greeted by a volley of hoots.

"To Spain with you! We've got bullfighters of our own!"

"What do you think of our matador out there?"

Zip! the missiles flew at him, and the bullfighter retreated.

Finally the woman in the ring got the "bulls" through the gate, and they went flying across the country.

The mob now turned in an instant from clamorous fun to vicious destructiveness. It was hard to account for this, but it may, perhaps, be explained in the thought that sympathy was against the bullfight all the time—a sympathy which, even among hoodlums, extends to a dumb creature offered as a sacrifice.

The crowd rushed to the pens and freed four more steers. Then they opened the stalls of the picadors' horses, and sent these scurrying across the fields.

Oh, for a Nero to Fiddle Here!

It was now 6 o'clock.

It was plain that the amphitheater was to be destroyed. Smoke rose from one of the stalls on the west side, and the people shouted:

"Good, we'll burn her to the ground. We'll get our dollar's worth!"

This idea of burning the place—a very grave undertaking in the open light of day and with twenty deputies present—was the boldest conceit of the eventful afternoon.

It seemed to have entered the mind of the mob when the bulls were proven to be harmless steers, with not one ounce of fight in them. It was when the mob learned in this wise how shamefully it had been faked that it became desperately riotous.

Arson is a penitentiary offense, but these 1500 men did not care.

They were determined to do something bo'd.

"[illegible] the bullfight on the bum!"

"We'll have a dollar's worth!"

"There won't be any bullfight next Sunday!"

County Officers Look Calmly On.

Hundreds of eager hands tore at the amphitheater, breaking away any part of it that would give. The wreckage was heaped on the mass in the arena, and the building presented a spectacle of broken planking, chairs, soda bottles—a mass of debris such as nothing but tornadoes and mobs could create.

No effort was made by the county deputies to save the structure. They were apathetic—aye, even sympathetic with the mob in a way. They saw men and boys everywhere trying to fire the big structure. They saw them crawl even to the roof, putting matches to the tar paper on the roof. They could easily have driven the mob away with a show of revolvers, but they did not.

There was not a policeman about. "Out of our jurisdiction," said the police, looking on from afar.

At 6:20 o'clock the trick was done. Flames reached through the big structure in a dozen places. The bullfighters rushed out of their rooms, fleeing for their lives. They begged the mob to get out their furniture, but the mob would only break it up and carry away pieces for souvenirs.

The bullfighters' amphitheater became a hell of flame. The wind blew from the west, and the Fair was just off the east, with a row of frame buildings all the way down the valley to the west end of the Pike.

The mob did not care. It cheered like a conquering army and threw pieces of wreckage into the flames.

When the fire drove the people back they stood at a distance and cheered.

"We're getting our dollar's worth!" they said.

There was no water with which to fight the fire. The officials of the bullfighting company had fled.

So the big amphitheater burned to the ground. Firemen from the Fair kept it from spreading to other buildings.

The point is made by county officers that had the mob destroyed the structure on any day but Sunday, Norris could recover damages from the county, inasmuch as he had a license to give his show. The state law does not countenance Sunday performances, so this recourse is lost to him.

BANKS GENEROUS TOWARD EDUCATOR

Robert S. Brookings Tells National Educational Fund Committee That Contrary Assertions Are Insults.

"It is almost an insult to insinuate that our banks are not as willing to contribute to the expenses of an educational convention as to a political convention," stated Robert S. Brookings, Monday morning, at the Mercantile Club, before a meeting of the finance committee that is raising $15,000 for the forty-third annual meeting of the National Educational Association in St. Louis, June 27.

His remarks were inspired by a suggestion that possibly the committee soliciting $40,000 for the national Democratic convention, July 6, had picked up about all the available convention money at the disposal of the certain large corporations.

The subcommittee on banks and trust companies reported that those institutions will make generous contributions to the educational convention fund, showing that St. Louis stands for intellectual, no less than for commercial development.

Will Explore the Caspian Sea.

In a bulletin issued by the Society of Naturalists at St. Petersburg it is stated that a new expedition for the exploration of the Caspian sea is to be sent out early this spring. It is a continuation of the Aral-Caspian expedition which worked some thirty years ago. The party will include such explorers as MM. Knipovitch and Lebedinstseff, well known by their explorations of the White and the Black seas. The chief aim of the expedition is the hydrobiological exploration of the Caspian sea and the biology of the Caspian herring.

Watchman Found Unconscious.

John Lyons, a night watchman for a grocery company at 907 Franklin avenue, was found early Sunday morning at Eighth and Franklin avenue in an unconscious condition and bleeding from the mouth and nose. Lyons was taken to the City Hospital where it was found that he had sustained a fractured collar bone. Lyons claims to have been assaulted by Charles May, a driver for the firm. He is 56 years old and lives at Broadway and Lucas avenue.

Shots Caused Him to Halt.

Detectives Cordell and Marcum arrested Edward Summers and wife of Detroit, Mich., at Ninth and Market streets Sunday night on suspicion of larceny. Both are said to have police records and to have had several hundred dollars worth of diamonds in their possession when arrested. On the way to the Four Courts, where they were locked up, Summers broke away from the detectives and attempted to escape, but a couple of shots from Marcum's revolver brought him to a halt.

TWELVE KILLED BY DYNAMITERS

switch which goes to the Delmonico mine. Attached to the end of the wire as a handle was a chair leg. This was used to pull the fatal trigger 75 yards away.

The wire is being carefully guarded and no one is being permitted to walk along the spur of track along which itt runs.

Bloodhounds have been sent for, but it would seem like a futile attemtp to apprehend the men who pulled the string. The trail would be lost after the end of the spur is reached. It is so near the town of Independence that innumerable persons have traversed the ground in that vicinity.

The authorities are at sea for a clue. There is much excitement and a good deal of talk of burning the perpetrators at stake if caught. Groups of determined men carryiing clubs are to be seen in all portions of Indpendence. The usual rowdy element is not in evidence.

Most of the killed and injured were nonunion miners employed in the Findlay mine, which is controlled by A. E. Carlton, president of the First National Bank, a man prominent in the councils of the Cripple Creek Mine Owners' Association.

The conspirators evidently did not wish to kill or injure any of the crew in charge of the train which the miners intended to take for their homes in Victor and Cripple Creek.

When within seventy-five feet of the depot at Independence the engine whistle sounded as a signal for the men at the depot to get ready to board and to warn any laggards to make haste if they wished to catch the train.

This whistle was the death signal, for, no sooner had the shrill blast sounded than a muffled roar was heard, and the mountain trembled as if rocked by an earthquake.

The train, which was running very slowly, was brought to a sudden stop by the engineer, and members of the train crew ran hastily forward to investigate. They were horror-stricken at the sight which greeted their eyes, a spectacle that was made the more grewsome by the sickly flickering lights from the lanterns and burning torches carried by the railroad men.

Messengers were hurried away for assistance.

Bodies Were Torn Asunder.

The scene around the depot was sickening. Portions of human bodies were scattered over the right of way, and in the 20-foot hole made by the explosion were found severed skulls, arms, legs and hands.

When news of the disaster reached Victor, Mayor Franklin ordered out Company L, Colorado National Guard, and the soldiers are now on guard at the scene.

Although the strike of union miners in the Cripple Creek district which began Aug. 10, 1903, and which led to the declaration of martial law in Telluride couty by Gov. Peabody, is still in effect, good order has been maintained for the past six months, and military rule has been suspended and all troops withdrawn.

Th mine owners, with the exception of the Portland Co., say they have as many men working as they need and they require all miners to renounce allegiance to the Westren Federation before giving them employment.

A committee appointed by the Westren Federation, now in session at Denver, to investigate the situation in the district visited the camp last week. Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, is in jail at Telluride, which is under martial law, being held as a military prisoner by Gov Peabody, who charges him with inciting insurrection and rebellion. Telluride is in southwestern Coloratdo and is about 400 miles from Cripple Creek.

The strikes in the metalliferous mines of Colorado were ordered by the executive board of the Westren Federation of Miners for the purpose of cutting off the ore supply of mills and smelters at which an eight-hour day was refused to the employes.

History of the Long Labor War.

The difficulties between the Miners' Union and the Mine Owners' Association have been of long standing, dating originally back to the time of Gov. Waite, when the famous "Bull Hill War" took place between deputy sheriffs supporting the mine owners and the miners.

During the past year martial law has been declared in different parts of the state. The Cripple Creek district was under martial law for mouths and clashes between the courts and the militia, under Gen. Sherman Bell, who commanded the militia, were frequent. Arrests made by the local authorities were annulled by the militia and demands by the courts for prisoners of the militia were defied. Newspapers were compelled to cease publication and editors were thrown in jail for alleged sedition.

Acts of violence were frequent, and several mines were wrecked and many lives were sacrificed.

The troubles extended to the Telluride and Idaho Springs district. In the Cripple Creek district the troubles were supposed to be about over, and the militia had been withdrawn some time ago, the county authorities considering that they would be able to handle the situation.

The fight has been the longest and hardest that has been waged between capital and labor in Colorado. The bitterness has been extreme and only a few days ago a detective, supposed to have been in the employ of the Mine Owners' association, was ambushed at night and riddled with bullets. The murder was attributed to men from Idaho Springs, with whom the murdered man had trouble when a deputy there.

COURT UPHOLDS GOV. PEABODY IN MOYER CONTEMPT CASE.

DENVER, Colo., June 6.—The state supreme court today refused the application for a writ of habeas corpus for Chas. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners who is held as a military a Telluride by order of Gov. James H. Peabody.

The governor's action in declaring martial law in San Miguel County, imprisoning Moyer and other union men on the ground that they had incited insurrection and rebellion, suspending the writ of habeas corpus and ignoring the authority of the local courts as seems necessary to him in maintaining law and order is sustained.

Chief Justice Gabbert and Justice Campbell concurred in the decision. Justice Steele dissented.

Former Husband of Accused Woman Says She Is Incapable of Murder—She Is of Prominent and Well-Known Eastern Family.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Whose was the revolver with which "Cesar" Young was killed?

On the answer to this question depends the whole solution of one of the greatest mysteries with which the police have ever had to deal. The efforts of Assistant District Attorney Garyan are devoted largely to settling this question, which must remain the key to the secret of this death of "Cesar" Young.

The horseman did not carry a revolver and was never known to have had one in his possession. So far as can be learned, the girl, "Nan" Patterson had never had the revolver and would have been afraid to use one.

The revolver with which Young was killed, loaded with four cartridges, had been carried by some one for at least a week. This is shown by the dust of the chambers and about the cartridges. This disposes of the theory that the revolver was bought on Saturday morning by either Young or the girl.

Unless some witness can be found who can identify the weapon, the secret of the turfman's death in the hansom cab will always remain a mystery.

The fact that Young was with "Nan" Patterson for several hours on Friday night was developed by the investigation of the district attorney's office. Young left the house of William Luce shortly after 9 o'clock with his brother-in-law B. S. McKean, parting from the latter at 9:25 and returned home at 1 o'clock in the morning, having spent the intervening time, it is said, with "Nan" Patterson.

According to William Luce, Young and the woman had a violent quarrel Friday night, because Young refused to tell her the name of the ship on which he was to sail. It is said she had threatened to make a scene on the pier, and yet this very fact is likely to be used by the defense, because there is undoubted proof that Young telephoned for the woman to meet him Saturday morning to ride down town with him.

It is argued that if the girl had had any intention of killing Young she could have had no opportunity of carrying it into effect after leaving him Friday night, as she did not know on what steamer he was to sail. On the other hand, the cabman says that a few minutes before the shot was fired Young told him to hurry as he must reach the pier before 9 o'clock.

Suicide Is Not Impossible.

Capt. Sweeney and the detectives who are working on the case are of the opinion that if the Patterson girl fired the shot that killed Young, she did so while she had her arm around his neck and his body drawn over close against her. They say that this would account for the fact that the report of the pistol was muffled.

Capt. Sweeney admitted that, while there was grave suspicion against Miss Patterson, he had been unable to find any conclusive evidence that Young himself did not fire the shot. The police say that, despite the revelations of the autopsy, it would have not been impossible for Young to have sent the bullet on the course it took through his body.

While Dr. John T. White of the hospital staff, before whom Young was taken, holds the opinion that it was extremely improbable that such a wound might have been inflicted by himself, he said it would not be impossible, if the weapon were held in the left hand or in the right hand, with the thumb upon the trigger, or if the man had very long arms.

Miss Patterson's counsel declares the wound could never have been inflicted by the young woman, unless she stood over him and shot down upon him.

"What is more probable," said a physician who had examined the wound, "than that the man had grasped the girl in his arms for a last farewell, and with his arms about her neck and the weapon in his right hand attempted to shoot himself in the left breast, wishing to die in a last embrace of the girl he had loved. In such a case the wound might have been just such as was shown in this case."

The fact that the weapon was found in Young's pocket is regarded as darkly significant, as the man could not possibly have replaced the weapon after an injury to the spine, according to a physician who talked to Assistant District Attorney Lord.

The counsel for the defense will attempt to show that the girl might have placed the weapon in the pocket in her agitation after the man had killed himself.

The interest in the case is heightened by the knowledge that "Nan" Patterson is a great granddaughter of John Randolph of Roanoke and the daughter of John B. Patterson, who was for many years supervising architect of the United States treasury department, who is taking steps to help her in her trouble.

One of her uncles, Charles Patterson, is cashier of the Fourth National Bank of this city, and another was a United States senator from New Hampshire. The young woman was splendidly educated in Washington, where she lived until she came to New York a few years ago.

"Nan" Patterson was formerly the wife of Leon Gaines Martin, cashier of the Hotel Collingwood, at 45 West Thirty-fifth street.

According to Mr. Martin she would have been incapable of such a crime as murder. He describes her as having been impulsive and hot tempered, but not violent.

"Use Hyomei at Our Risk."

Judge & Dolph, 515 Olive St., Will Pay for HYOMEI Treatment If It Fails to Cure Catarrh.

The fact that Hyomei is so convenient and complete and that it cures by merely breathing and not by drugging the stomach, no doubt has had considerable influence in creating confidence in the treatment. When Hyomei is used, every particle of air that enters the head and throat and goes to the lungs, is charged with healing balsams that kill the germs of catarrh and soothe and heal the irritated mucous membrane.

Judge & Dolph urge all who are subject to catarrh or catarrhal colds to get a Hyomei outfit from them and use it at their risk. No matter how skeptical you may be, you cannot dispute the fairness of this offer. Use Hyomei for a month. If, at the end of thirty days, you can say to Judge & Dolph "It did not help," they will refund your money without question or argument.

THE STATE BOARD OF ARBITRATION.

While the board of arbitration has lost much of its usefulness by the decision that it has no power to compel testimony, there is a certain power of persuasion left it which, if intelligently exercised, may be of benefit. Argument is always better than blows and if the discussion continues long enough perhaps blows may be averted. Neither employers nor employes should be considered beyond the reach of sweet reasonableness proceeding from a state board which can really claim that estimable characteristic as the sum and substance of its being.

The failure of this attempt, however, need not discourage the friends of arbitration. If the board can be lawfully invested with enough judicial power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers, publicity will be assured and that is, in most strikes, decisive when the facts can be obtained.

It is becoming more and more difficult to procure a law in the public interest which will endure the scrutiny of the supreme court. Such statutes are usually models of bad draftsmanship. But this subject is so important that another attempt should be made. Let us have a state board of arbitration with power enough to make itself respected by both employers and employes.

The bull fight farce, with its riotous accompaniments, was as disgraceful an event as ever disturbed the peace of St. Louis and its suburbs. The show was licensed by the county court of St. Louis County, which should have been thoroughly informed as to the nature of the entertainment and if it was of an unlawful character the license should not have been granted. If, knowing that a genuine bull fight was advertised, the county authorities were determined to stop it, there should have been no doubt as to their intention before the public was admitted to a farce. The deception practiced was the prime cause of the riot and the fire, but that is no justification for the mob's work. Every person implicated in the mob's work, against whom evidence can be found, should be prosecuted. There is a manifest need of a severe lesson on the subject of law and order. The lesson should be given now in the beginning of the Exposition season.

A WARM PENMAN SEES THE FAIR.

The World's Fair is advertised by its loving friends. As one example out of 10,000—for there are that many newspapers in the United States—let us note the following efflorescent bit, worth fully $1 a line, from the New Athens (Ill.) Journal:

> Inside the limits of St. Louis has risen, as in the night, another great metropolis, that will bewilder with its surpassing beauty and compel the admiration of all who see it. One almost wishes that after the Fair this capital of all expositions could remain standing, even though its avenues and buildings, its pale halls and many-hued palaces, were peopled only by memories of the millions that passed through them and of the sound of the babel of tongues that rang out in the corridors of this gorgeous place of enchantment—for abode of enchantment it will be, even when its massive gates and its marvelous palaces shall be no more.

Now, we don't like that "pale halls" much, considering the vast sums we have spent to make them resplendent, but can it not be seen with one glance that the editor of the New Athens Journal is no slouch when it comes to sizing up things, as well as a warm wielder of the pen?

MAKING HARE PIE.

The German commission of the educational exhibit is quoted as saying that "the purely business phase of scientific activity in Germany is subordinate to the educational institution—to the professors."

There is much to recommend this. The Germans seek truth for its own sake, believing that every fact in nature has some practical bearing. If its commercial value is not immediately apparent they do not neglect it, but pursue the search for ulterior meanings. Sooner or later its practical utility will be discovered.

The notion that a fact is not worth studying unless it can be directly turned into cash is widely held to the great loss both of science and practical convenience. There is money in every conclusion of science. If truth is not loved for its own sake men with long views are aware that it is worth cultivating for the sake of possible advantage in future.

First catch and understand the facts of science. Then apply them. The recipe for making hare pie is a fruitful symbol.

OVERWORK IS INJURIOUS.

Banker R. H. Plant of Macon, Ga., has by his life and tragic death disproved the theory held by many men who worship the great god Success, that one cannot overwork, especially if one's work is varied. We have been preached to on all sides, of late, on the virtue of the strenuous life in business, and there are a number of men who believe that time taken for a vacation is time wasted.

Mr. Plant had not taken a vacation in 22 years. His interests were so varied that he doubtless believed that, going from one to another gave him sufficient rest and relief. He went from his fine farm to his office daily, and spent much time with his race horses and tropical plants. Yet he finally broke down and became so despondent that he committed suicide. He was the model business man, for he made even his mingling of vocations business, because he attended to all of them with a mind on the stretch.

There is a time to quit and go fishing. That time, perhaps, is today. Tomorrow may be too late.

The Mice With the Tail-Muffs.

Mrs. Mouse lives in the wall with her six little mice. They always had cold, cold tails. This made the little mice cry. "Quee—quee!" they said.

"Hush-h-h," said Mother Mouse. "The cat will hear you."

"We don't care if she does, Mother Mouse; we don't care if the cat does hear us, and eat us up every bit up—our tails are so cold, Mother Mouse," the little mice cried, all together.

That day Mother Mouse stood in the door of the house hole which came out just under the dressing-table, where a dear little girl was being got ready to go to town. Nurse put on her blue velvet coat and her blue silk bonnet, then gave her her little white fur collar and muff. "O, me!" sighed Mother Mouse, "if I only had muffs to keep my poor children's tails warm."

So then she went to the dream mouse and begged him to give the little girl a dream about it.

"Say it over, and say it slow," said the dream mouse. "Maybe I can remember about half of it."

But the dream mouse remembered every word, and next day the little girl asked mamma for some white flannel and some white velvet, out of which she made six little muffs and shaped them over her finger. These she dropped down at the door of the house hole. The next day they were gone and the dream mouse brought her a dream (which was true) of those six little mice following their mother to Sunday school, each with his tail curled over his back, and a pretty white muff to keep it warm. The little girl laughed in her sleep to see how those funny small mice were grinning.

Brazil at the Fair.

The Brazilian Review is the only periodical published in English in the United States of Brazil, a country of 20,000,000 inhabitants and an area almost aqualing that of the United States of America. Brazil produces about four-fifths of the coffee consumed in the world and of the Brazilian crop, the United States buys roughly about three-fourths to the value on an average of $80,000,000 annually. Quite recently the United States has obtained a reciprocity treaty from Brazil, ruled by certain articles of American manufacture. Such as flour are granted the preferential rebate, amounting to about 20 per cent on the usual import duties of this article. Hence, the numerous trade relations existing between the two countries, and it is unfortunate that a wider knowledge of the social, economic and financial conditions of Brazil are not better known in the United States. The very exhaustive exhibits of the Brazilian government at the St. Louis Fair are intended to amplify this want of knowledge on the part of Americans generally.

The Brazilian Review is the only paper in the whole of South America which has an exhibit at the Fair and the principle object in the exhibit is to furnish information to visitors about Brazil, for which the Brazilian Review has a bureau of information on things Brazilian at the Brazilian pavilion, where information, either verbally or in writing, will be gladly furnished by the management of the paper.

HOW NOMINATIONS ARE MADE

Willis J. Abbot in the Pilgrim for June.

WE have a notion in our country that nominations are compelled by the people. This should be true, but it is not. Nominations are not made from below up, but from above down. The small body of wealthy and prominent politicians, usually having their headquarters at Washington, pass the word to the state leaders, the state leaders pass the word to the county committeemen, and they in turn to the district commiteemen. The effect is that nominations are largely controlled from a central body. It is true that this is not always the fact. It was not the fact when Mr. Bryan overthrew the Democratic organization at Chicago in 1896. It will not be the fact in the Republican convention this year, when Col. Roosevelt will unquestionably secure a unanimous nomination, although the great leaders of his party are notoriously against him. In the case of both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Roosevelt, the enthusiasm of the masses has been so great that the politicians were compelled to defer to the people whom ordinarily they expect to control.

A national convention, as Mr. Bryce says in the paragraph quoted above, consists of from 900 to 1100 delegates. They are elected in different ways. In both the Republican and Democratic parties the rule is that each state shall adopt its own system for electing delegates. The ratio of representation is two delegates for each member of the electoral college and that as a rule results in making two delegates for each congressional district and four delegates-at-large. The latter four represent the two senators from the state. In certain states the system is that the state convention shall elect all the delegates, both district and delegates-at-large. In others, the district delegates meet at the state convention, and select their two delegates for the national convention, which are approved by the state convention. In other states the state convention selects four delegates-at-large and each congressional district convention elects its two delegates.

The delegates having been elected to either a Republican or Democratic convention are called sooner or later to the meeting place. There are by this time many thousands of Americans who are familiar with a great national convention. There are probably hundreds of thousands who have never seen one. Possibly there is no other scene so dramatic as this. It has so happened that I have attended many of them. I was at the Chicago convention where the unwearying and unyielding phalanx of 306 stood for Gen. Grant. I saw at that convention the effort made by Roscoe Conkling to pledge every delegate to vote for the nominee, and I heard a man from West Virginia rise and make a speech, insisting upon his right of individual judgment, which brought to their feet thousands of men and women in the galleries and on the platform, many of whom were advocates of Grant, but who believed above all, as all we Americans believe, in individual liberty. Garfield was nominated at that convention and elected, as we all know. That was one of the dramatic conventions, one the story of which is too long to tell here.

"RAMPANT TOADYISM"

Post-Dispatch Readers Undertake to Give the Newspapers a Lesson in Journalism.

Mission of the Newspaper.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial in yesterday's issue upon "Rampant Toadyism" was very much to the point. Likewise yours of today along the same line, and the dressing down you gave "One of the Mob" was artistic and deserved, but your response to the criticisms of some of your correspondents is not convincing. No doubt the mission of a newspaper is to be largely "the mirror of society," as you put it, but is it not also—to quote the old and hackneyed term—"a moulder of public opinion?" Can anyone doubt that the newspaper reports of the strenuous doings of the President's daughter in the past, and the head-lined announcements of her approaching visit to the Fair, the detail of special reporters to interview her on her arrival and to follow her everywhere, noting down her every act, word and look, stimulated the curiosity of the thoughtless multitudes to transgress good manners in the effort to get a sight of her?

There is another matter wherein the press of the city is justly liable to censure. For a number of days the columns of the daily papers have teemed with announcements of "a real bullfight," to be exhibited Sunday. I take three daily papers—including the Post-Dispatch, of course—and have not seen one line of editorial condemnation of the proposed infamy in either of them. It remained for the ministers—all honor to them—to take decided steps to prevent the brutal exhibition. Why has not the Post-Dispatch brought to bear its powerful influence in behalf of decency and humanity in this matter?

It may be that with the newspaper man's usual perspicacity you foresaw that the much-heralded "bullfight" was to be a very tame wrestling match, as in some former instances of the kind, but even then your case is scarcely bettered, for you are allowing the public to be deceived.

3005 Morgan street. W. F. PECK.

"Holding the Mirror Up to Nature."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

I have no fault to find with your editorial on "Rampant Toadyism;" on the contrary, I approve it; but only were instructions not given by the managing powers concerning the manner in which Miss Roosevelt's visit was to be treated in your own news columns? It was handled in the first accounts in a way that would exasperate any St. Louis editor, were his own daughter the subject.

We hear considerable about "schools of journalism," and the beautifully elevating effect in ethics that is to be produced; but, in my opinion, no newspaper will show an atom of improvement from any such source, unless the managing editors themselves take the initiative. Instructions in line with the editorial on "Rampant Toadyism" should have been given to all St. Louis reporters, before they began to write about the President's daughter at all.

Reverting to the "school of journalism" idea, I believe also that there will be no ethical improvement whatever in those newspapers which follow too closely the duty laid down by you in Friday's paper, that of merely "holding the mirror up to nature." It is a convenient excuse for a vast amount of vulgar sensationalism (I do not mean to say on the part of the Post-Dispatch) to say, "Well, we are only showing society as it is." The duty of selection of news and proper manner of treatment cannot be thus evaded by a journalist who cares anything for honesty or for ethics in general.

The newspapers of St. Louis would command more respect if, right in the beginning, they told the public where the line lay between civility and cheap vulgarity, instead of "playing up" the vulgarity in their news columns as if it were the proper thing.

The next time a distinguished visitor comes to town, turn the cameras on the mobs of yaps, and tell the yaps that they are yaps. You will please about ninety-nine and a half of every hundred of your readers. G. L. WILCOX.

The Great Goal.

Mamma: Yes, father has at last succeeded in his noble endeavor. By getting free street railroad franchises here and filling the cars with advertisements and running different kinds of more or less immoral shows along his lines for the purpose of increasing traffic and by making a car that was built to hold 30 passengers always carry at least 45, he has made about $15,000,000.

Gladys: O, goody! Now we can live in New York and spend our money where there'll be some satisfaction in it.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Of Interest to Women

Theo. Sarstel in the Pilgrim for June.

We are told that the Empress of China has at last found one foreign thing she likes, and that is the circus. She recently attended one, laughing heartily at the grotesque performances.

Although one notable railroad in this country put a ban on women employes, woman's wit has proven so desirable to the Monon that Miss Agnes Mullen has been appointed its advertising manager. Miss Mullen is said to be the only woman in the world holding such a position.

A striking illustration of the unpopularity of domestic service is noted in the statement that not a single pupil has applied for admission in more than two years in the Clara de Hirsch Home for Working Girls in New York City—a splendidly equipped building, with free scholarships and other inducements.

For the first time in the history of the world a woman has been appointed special envoy to the courts of Europe. Miss Jessie Ackerman, the famous traveler and lecturer, has been given that honor by the Universal Peace Society, and will carry a message to the reigning monarchs during the year.

It is not generally known to the outside world that the Massachusetts Federation has established a model school in Georgia designed to aid the effort to abolish child labor in that state. Four acres of land surround the buildings, where light gardening and scientific strawberry growing will be taught. There is a model kitchen in the school and domestic science is an important part of the instruction.

A woman's club in Kansas has the following commandments printed in the yearly calendar:

1. Thou shalt have no other clubs before this one.
2. Thou shalt not worship any false thing.
3. Remember thy club engagements.
4. Honor thy club sisters.
5. Thou shalt not murder the king's English.
6. Thou shalt not covet office.

To which might be added: Punctuality is the politeness of kings; let it be of women.

The Retreat of Mrs. Hubbard.

Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard to get her poor doggie a bone.

"Begobs," remarked the cook, "the last lady Oi wurrked fer niver came in the kitchen, an' if yez don't clear out Oi'll lave."

Herein we see the true reason why the poor doggie got none.—New York Sun.

A Globe Trotter.

Willie Bug: Hey! What are you doing up there?

Johnny Bug: Oh, just taking a little trip around the world!

Pleased.

"What did the teacher say about your essay?" asked Mrs. McGudley.

"He said it was tautological," answered the girl graduate.

"Gracious me! To think of your doin' anything like that, almost the first time tryin'!"—Washington Star.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

THE INSANITY OF EXCLUSIVENESS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your correspondent, signing "One of the Inner Ten," is laboring under a misapprehension as to the facts.

He forget that I have issued an edict limiting the "conquerors" of St. Louis society to five—thereby excluding him.

He forgets that my Imperialistic Majesty cannot deign to notice one of his rank, and he is guilty of the most presumptuous and heinous crime of entertaining the thought that I would condescend to such degredation.

He forgets that the framers of the Declaration of Independence committed a colossal error in reciting that "all men are created equal."

Therefore let him become aware that the "elect and branded social possibilities" have by my royal direction been further restricted to five true and worthy princes of noble blood.

THE KING OF SOCIETY.

NAMES ARE DIFFERENT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see in answer to P. T. H. you say the name Roosevelt should be pronounced Rose-e-velt. What then must we say in case of noose, moose or goose? According to the version in your paper we should say mose-e, nose-e and gose-e, when anyone can see the Roose is the same, only that the first letter is different. I would like to read some more on the subject. READ CLARKE.

Your criticism is weak, because the name Roosevelt is Dutch and cannot, properly, be compared with English words with similar vowels. Also, names become corrupted in sound in the course of centuries. Note the names Cholmondeley and Beauchamp, of English families, pronounced Chumley and Beechum, respectively.—Editor Letters From the People.

THE ACCIDENT OF BIRTH.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In all the criticisms of "Rampant Toadyism," "Snobbery," and "Bootlicking" connected with the visit of the fair daughter of the President to the Fair, permit the suggestion that one very significant element seems to have been entirely ignored or overlooked, and that is the sound American idea—the keynote of healthy democracy—that no person in our land should be the subject of adoration merely on account of the accident of birth. That homage and high, personal esteem in a republic is due only to exceptional personal merit, based upon high and honorable achievement in some of the walks of life or duty.

To the credit of democratic humanity it seems altogether probable that the sober second thought of such American "mobs" will concur with the true American sentiment that rampant curiosity and disgusting and senseless adulation is alike an insult to the fair subject of them and to American nobility—a puerile weakness that fits—only to the "accidents" of royalty and has no proper place in the American republic. G. W. B.

THE DUBLIN ACTORS AND THE STAGE IRISHMAN.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Dublin actors at the Irish Village Theater deserve the thanks not only of all decent Irishmen, but of all respectable citizens for their prompt action in declining to associate with or be contaminated by that most vulgar and vicious of English dance hall creations—the stage Irishman. The class of people who enjoy the coarse and witless jokes of the stage Irishman are the depraved habitues of the tough saloons, dives and winerooms. Such stagemen and the vicious admirers who glorify drunkenness and pander to all criminal tendencies should be treated as a public nuisance. It is not enough that the managers of the Irish Theater put clean, popular, high-class plays on their stage, they must advertise them regularly in the daily papers, especially in the Post-Dispatch. The American people, especially Missourians, like to be "shown." Remind them daily through the theatrical columns of he Post-Dispatch of the beautiful and heroic dramas of the golden age of Celtic chivalry that have been prepared for their enjoyment and education and they will patronize the Irish Theater most liberally. DR. HENRY W. CURTIN.

The Chicago & Alton has a locomotive weighing 219,500 pounds; engine and tender together weigh 374,000 pounds. The only double-header engines used in North America are on the Mexican railway; each weighs 100 tons.

F. F.—The material of the paper carwheel is a calendared rye-straw board or thick paper made especially for the purpose. This is sent to the works in various sizes suitable for the dimensions of the wheel center to be made. The first operation is for two men standing beside a pile of the boards to brush over each sheet a coating of flour paste, until a dozen are pasted into a layer. A third man transfers this layer to a hydraulic press, where a pressure of five hundred tons or more is applied. After solidifying under this pressure for two hours, the 12-sheet layers are kept in a drying room heated to a temperature of 120 degrees Fahrenheit. Several of these layers are in turn pasted together, dressed and given another drying. This is kept up until a circular block is formed containing from 120 to 160 sheets, varying from 4½ to 5½ inches in thickness, and as compact as seasoned hickory. The blocks are then turned in a lathe slightly larger than the tire, and the hole is bored for the cast-iron center. In turning the paper blocks make a shaving that resembles strips of leather. The center and the tire are forced on under a powerful hydraulic press. The average life of the tire of a paper wheel is about 300,000 miles. That represents about 1¼-inch wear. The centers do not seem to be affected by service, and they are always good for renewal of tires unless some accident happens to them.

QUAY'S POLITICAL CAREER.

From the New York World.

Such a man as Mr. Quay cannot be considered merely as a loving husband, a kind father, a loyal friend, with a taste for the fine arts and an intelligent appreciation of good literature. He must be dealt with as a public personage, and in his political career there is little to admire, unless one is to express admiration for brilliant faculties and gifts prostituted to base and sinister purposes.

Mr. Quay has been called the most successful and astute politician of his party. We think he was. In many respects he was one of the most adroit and resourceful managing politicians the country has ever produced. He had a veritable Napoleonic facility for translating thought into action, which he combined with a cynical and unscrupulous justification of the means to the end. Politics to him was business, largely private business. He looked upon Pennsylvania and the nation itself as Blucher looked upon London—"What a city to loot!"

STONE, SEIBERT, COOK & CO.

From the Scott County (Mo.) Kicker.

So the corrupt men at Jefferson City belonged only to the legislative branch, did they?

Who was it that bribed the so-called horsebreeders' bill through the legislature? In his testimony in the Cardwell case, did not Sam Cook admit that he did it, and did not Gov. Stephens testify that Sam told him there was a good fee in it—$5000, I believe.

Who was it that formed himself into a "Missouri Health Society" and gave to Missouri its present "pure food law" if it was not the junior United States senator from Missouri?

Who was it that lobbied against the bill providing for a reduction in stockyards charges if it was not Seibert, Cook & Co.?

Who signed all the infamous laws that have been forced upon the people in recent years if not the various governors?

And yet you hold the little one-horse legislators responsible because they listened to the men whom you had taught them to believe were immaculate.

CAUSES ARREST OF HER FIANCE

Wealthy Mrs. Strong Says $1000 Worth of Diamonds Are Missing.

SHE ARRIVES FROM CHICAGO

Declares John Fields McClure Courted and Promised to Marry Her.

John Fields McClure, young, handsome, well dressed and debonnaire, was arrested at his employment agency office in the Fullerton building Monday morning on complaint of Mrs. Ruth Freeman Strong, a wealthy Chicago widow.

According to the information from the Chicago police on which McClure is held, Mrs. Strong says McClure courted her and promised to carry her, and that $1000 worth of diamonds belonging to her are missing, with the chances being that he knows considerable about their disappearance.

McClure admits that he promised to marry Mrs. Strong and did not do so, but says he knows nothing of the disappearance of the diamonds. He says he and Mrs. Strong have been friends for a long while, and that there was no seeming interruption of their friendship until he came to St. Louis three weeks ago to open his employment agency.

He is being held until the Chicago police can be heard from.

HOLE UNDER FENCE IS HIS TURNSTILE

Man Who Enters Fair Without Paying Stays as Cellmate of a Pike Turk.

John Roberts, aged 55, of Willow Springs, Mo., attempted to crawl under the west fence of the World's Fair grounds Monday morning and was arrested and fined $10. Roberts had in his pocket a letter of recommendation signed by citizens of Willow Springs.

Roberts stated that he, with his wife, had come to St. Louis to get work, but had been unsuccessful. He said he was looking for a position Monday morning, and was returning to 1129 Tamm avenue, where he and his wife were stopping. He saw the hole under the fence and started to take a short cut home through the Fair.

Roberts did not have the money with which to pay his fine and was locked up in the World's Fair police station. In the cell with Roberts was a Turk from the Pike.

FINDS PARTNER IN HOSPITAL.

Contractor Says Friend's Illness Is Not Correctly Diagnosed.

A. P. McDonald, a Chicago contractor, who is occupying a house at 6519 Vernon avenue during the Fair, expected his business partner, W. C. Rose, to arrive for a visit Saturday night.

Sunday morning Rose had not appeared or wired and McDonald instituted a search for him. He inquired at a police station and got a trail which led him to the City Dispensary and thence to the City Hospital. There he found his partner, who had been arrested Saturday night.

The hospital records show that Rose's condition was diagnosed as alcoholism. McDonald says this diagnosis is wrong, as Rose is not a drinking man.

LOSES BROTHER, WINS FRIENDS

Roy Leninger Finds Ready Foster-Fathers on Police.

Roy Leninger, a bright 14-year-old lad from Woodford, O. T., has "made good" with the East St. Louis police and has been adopted as a sort of protege there. He arrived in East St. Louis last Wednesday in search of his older brother, Arthur, from whom he got separated in St. Louis. Their home was in Oklahoma till last Monday, he said, when as a result of being mistreated by their stepmother, they ran away and "bummed" their passage to St. Louis on freight trains.

The police have taken a liking to the boy, bought him a pair of shoes and a new shirt and are allowing him to live about the station and make himself useful till he finds a home.

USHERS' CRY FOR TIPS EMBARRASSES FILIPINOS

Reception to Honorary Commission From Phillipines Marred by Union Station Attaches Who Force Senor Guerrero to Borrow Money.

Five Union Station ushers, intent upon securing tips, marred the reception Monday morning of the visiting honorary commission from the Philippines.

As the train which is conveying them to Washington was about to depart, Executive Secretary Guerrero was beset by five uniformed station ushers, who loudly clamored for tips, and upon receiving the same commenced an argument among themselves as to whom the money should be divided among.

After giving up what change he had in his pocket it was necessary for Senor Guerrero to borrow from Dr. W. P. Wilson of the receiving committee a silver dollar to quiet the horde of ushers. The senor's wife was in the group at the time and looked on with embarrassment and indignation.

The boys laid claim to the tips despite the fact that what hand luggage they had handled had only been moved from one train to another, a distance of 10 feet.

The boy loudest in his demands was about to receive the borrowed dollar, when it was claimed by three others, all of whom claimed to have handled the senor's suit case.

He finally brushed them aside in disgust and boarded the train to relieve the situation.

Ushers, when questioned regarding the scramble for tips, state that they are paid only a trifling salary and are dependent upon tips.

ALLEGE HE STOLE LUMBER AT FAIR

Peter McEwen Is Charged With Building Addition to His House With Concession's Property.

Peter McEwen, 25 years old, of 6704 Scofield avenue, foreman of the Criterion Concession Co., was arrested by Policeman Cohan at the Fair Monday on a charge of grand larceny.

The police claim that McEwen stole lumber and other building material from the Criterion Concession Co. to the amount of $400 or $500. These thefts, according to the police, have been going on for four months, and, it is alleged, the lumber was carted away from the grounds by McEwen in wagons belonging to the Criterion Concession Co.

Part of the lumber, it is alleged, has been used by McEwen in erecting an addition to his home in Scofield avenue.

McEwen told the Post-Dispatch Monday that he stole about $40 worth of the lumber, but did not take any more. He says he told his wife of taking the lumber, and she persuaded him to go to the company, confess and offer to pay for what he had taken. He says he used most of the lumber to build a kitchen, and sold the rest.

His offer to pay for the lumber he confessed to having stolen was rejected by the company, and his arrest followed. He says he has no idea who took the lumber stolen in excess of the amount which he says he took.

SHEEHAN HASN'T MET FOLK

But Norman E. Mack Is Said to Be Arranging a Conference Between Them.

"I have not yet seen Mr. Folk and I do not know if I shall have the pleasure of meeting him during my stay in St. Louis," said former Lieutenant-Governor Sheehan of New York, one of the chief supporters of Judge Alton B. Parker for the Democratic presidential nomination, to the Post-Dispatch Monday morning.

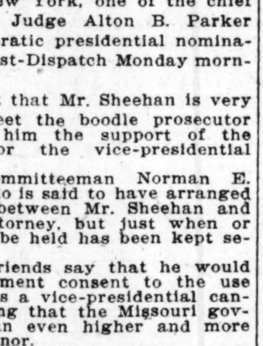
It is thought that Mr. Sheehan is very anxious to meet the boodle prosecutor and offer to him the support of the Parkerites for the vice-presidential nomination.

National Committeeman Norman E. Mack of Buffalo is said to have arranged a conference between Mr. Sheehan and the circuit attorney, but just when or where it will be held has been kept secret.

Mr. Folk's friends say that he would not for a moment consent to the use of his name as a vice-presidential candidate, believing that the Missouri governorship is an even higher and more responsible honor.

Mr. Sheehan declined to discuss politics, nor would he admit that he expected to outline a vice-presidential proposition to the circuit attorney.

He expects to leave for New York Wednesday night.



BOILS

PYRAMIDS OF PAIN

Boils show the blood is in a riotous, feverish condition, or that it has grown too weak and sluggish to throw off the bodily impurities, which then concentrate at some spot, and a carbuncle or boil is the result. To one already enfeebled by disease, boils seem to come with more frequency, causing the intensest pain and greatest danger to the already weak and debilitated sufferer. All skin eruptions, from the sometimes fatal carbuncle to the spiteful little cat-boil, are caused by bad blood, and the only way to avoid or get permanently rid of them is to purify and build up the deteriorated, polluted blood, and counteract the humors and poisons; and nothing will do this so quickly and thoroughly as S. S. S., which is the acknowledged king of blood purifiers and greatest of all tonics. Where the blood has become impoverished and is poor and thin, no medicine acts so promptly in building up and restoring its richness, purity and strength. The time to cure a boil is before it develops, when it is in a state of incubation or formation in the blood; for boils are, after all, only the impurities and poisons bubbling up through the skin, and this will continue in spite of poulticing and lancing till the blood gets rid of its accumulated poison. The way to stop boils is to attack them in the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. All danger of boils is past when the blood has been thoroughly purified and the system cleansed of all morbid, impure matter. If you are subject to boils, then the same causes that produced them last season will do so this, and the sooner you begin to put your blood and system in good order the better the chance of going through the spring and summer season without boils or other painful and irritating skin eruptions. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, and can be taken with perfect safety by old and young, and without harm to the most delicate constitution. It is mild and pleasant in its action, and unequaled as a cure for boils and kindred eruptions.

Allegheny, Pa., June 11, 1903.

From the age of twenty or thirty I was sorely afflicted with large, awful boils on my face and body. As soon as they would heal up in one place they would break out in another part of the body, and this continued for ten years. I tried everything I could hear of to get relief, but nothing did me any good. I had but little faith in S. S. S. doing me good when I began it, but after taking it for a short while the boils began to disappear. I continued on with the medicine, taking six bottles, and all the boils entirely disappeared. Five years have elapsed since that time, and I have never been bothered since, showing that the cure was permanent. I had some thirty or forty of the most painful boils one ever had, and to be entirely rid of them by your great purifier, S. S. S., puts me under a debt of gratitude to you.

AUDIENCE WAITS LONG FOR THE GIRL FROM DIXIE

"A Girl from Dixie" got to the Century Theater behind time Sunday night, kept us up late and finally sent us home with a head full of tuneful old songs, a remembrance of many ankles and a doubt as to whether it was all worth while.

The piece is not worth while—there is not much room for doubt on that score. There is nothing novel in its design, and many of the jokes are poor. But the people—there is room for doubt and difference of opinion here. Most of them make the best of poor opportunities, and in the course of something more than two hours and a half each of the principals does something worth remembering.

There is Beatrix Bronte, the Girl, for instance. She sings well, dances well, kicks remarkably high and secures much applause. Then there is Essie Lyons, who is pretty in a plump way, and whom one remembers chiefly for her resemblance, in the first act, to the Angel Child of comic supplement fame—a resemblance which is so striking that one instinctively wonders why Kubelik doesn't come on and make the resemblance complete. Then there is D. L. Don, the Girl's step-papa, who mumbles his funny way through many funny situations and reaches his climax when he plays on a dismantled piano and, for an encore, stands before it and gives a striking imitation of a woman putting on a shirtwaist.

There is some good chorus work, although the music all seems to have been heard before. The costuming is striking in spots, and of the orthodox, short-skirted variety in the other spots. Altogether, the people rather more than make up for the shortcomings of the piece, and the audience gets its money's worth.

* * *

The Olympic Theater has "A Country Girl" again this week, and the house ends its season with this excellent musical play Saturday night. The company presenting the piece is so good and the performance is so pleasing that anyone visiting the city's premier playhouse this week will get his money's worth.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" began its fifth week at the Crawford Theater yesterday afternoon. This excellent rural play is going after the indoor theatrical record in St. Louis, and it is going to get it.

* * *

Never before in the history of Delmar garden was there such a crowd within the gates of the big theater as that which assembled last night for the opening production of the second week of the Delmar "Louisiana." It filled every seat, and there were scores who stood up and tramped the tanbark foyer in the rear. And a better-satisfied audience it would be hard to find. One well-known man about town had a party of twenty-four and others came in bunches of five and ten. Certainly the Delmar "Louisiana" has caught on as nothing has done in St. Louis since the days of "Ben Hur." And the performance last night was better than ever. The big audience enthused the actors, and the singers and dancers were seen at their best. Miss Lambert and Miss Walser were in excellent voice, and Miss Merton as Dixie caught the house. Pontiac made his customary hit, and Messrs. Morgan, Mack and Furlong, as the three fortune tellers, were given the most enthusiastic applause of all. Mr. Hill's Brother Jonathan is rapidly becoming the most unique creation in the piece.

* * *

By far the best bill of its season satisfied crowds at Suburban garden Sunday. Prof. Walberte has a trained horse, "Dahl," that waltzes, jiggs, and performs a variety of tricks. "Hotel Repose," a farce presented by Wesson, Walters and Wesson, is rather furious comedy that seem to hit the audience just right. The singing of Ada Arnoldson and Mattie Lockette's dancing are pleasing features. The Suburban's usual acrobatic feature is furnished by Post and Clinton.

A new departure at the park is the kinetograph, which showed yesterday all the details of a train robbery. The new poses in the electric fountain are beautiful. Nettie Kinder, one of the posers who was hurt in a fall last week, was able to appear last night.

It is a great treat to hear Eugenie Mantelli, who is the headliner at Forest Park Highlands this week, sing a transcript of the intermezzo, Toetti's "Goodbye," and "Dreaming," all of which are admirably suited to her voice. Mantelli's voice has not lost its flexibility and rich timbre by summer garden singing, which demonstrates that no well founded voice can be injured, no matter where it is used From Mantelli down the line, every act provided by Col. Hopkins for this week's program is a headliner. Martinetti and Grossi have an unlimited variey of musical instruments, from which they draw harmony and popular airs, beginning with a flower vase and a pedestal and ending with a bamboo tree in an enormous vase. They cap the climax of their act by having handed to them over the footlights a pair of gorgeous bouquets, which turn out to be another set of instruments from which they extract more music. The act of Clayton, Jenkins and Jasper, the latter an intelligent donkey, caused unbounded merriment. Blocksom and Burns do a black-face comedy act with many novel features. Zoa Mathews sings and talks well and divides her honors generously with a little song boy with a big voice. Prestidigitation as presented by Lawrence Crane is an attractive and mystifying article.

"The Hot Air Club," a musical comedy, by Harry Montague, was witnessed by two large audiences at West End Heights yesterday.

The "Blondenetts Dance" proved to be a big novelty, and the Delmay Sisters were features. M. E. Nibbe, Tommy Harris and the balance of the company, together with the well-filled chorus, pleased the audience.

* * *

The best bill of vaudeville the park has had this season started Sunday at Mannion's Park. Hugh Stanton and Florence Modena return after a two years' absence in England, presenting their charming little comedy, "For Reform." Arthur Rigby, the minstrel, and Meehand's dog circus occupy prominent places on the bill.

* * *

There will be an entire change of bill at the Broadway Musee today. The Broadway stock company will present the comedy-farce entitled "Casey in Room 3." The vaudeville will include Zat Zam and company, Eastern wonder workers; Harry Bleny, comedian; Edward de Moss, illustrated songs; Jessie Mowra, picture fire dance; George Lynn and company, comedy act. Hereafter the Broadway Musee will run continuous vaudeville, starting at 11:30 each morning and continuing until 10 p. m. The management is catering especially to ladies and children.

Well and his band played in Tower Grove Park yesterday afternoon to a large audience. The program was well selected and finely rendered. The piccolo solo of Mr. Kiburz of the band was one of the features of the concert.

TAYLOR OPPOSED ICE-MAKING EXHIBIT

Former Chief of Refrigeration Bureau Tells History of Ice Monopoly at Fair.

PRICE OF SUPPLY IS RAISED

Eight Big Companies Had Promised to Exhibit When the Change of Plans Was Announced.

How the ice concession, which exhibitors say is to increase the cost of their ice at the World's Fair, was granted in place of an extensive refrigeration exhibit as originally planned, was explained in a discussion of the matter at the convention of the Western Ice Manufacturers' Association in Kansas City in April. Gardner T. Voorhees, former chief of the bureau of refrigeration at the Fair, addressed the association explaining his plans and how they were treated.

As stated exclusively in the Post-Dispatch last Friday, exhibitors have received notice that they cannot buy ice hereafter from concerns other than the ice concessionaire, P. D. C. Ball of St. Louis. They say that as a result they are informed that the price of ice will increase from 40 cents per 100 pounds to a scale from 50 to 80 cents and in larger quantities from $5 per ton to from $6 to $10 per ton.

Before the Western Ice Manufacturers' Association Mr. Voorhees was invited to explain his experience with the Exposition management by J. C. Atwood, who was chairman of the committee which suggested a comprehensive ice exhibit to the Exposition management.

This suggestion was approved by the Exposition management in 1900. Manufacturers of ice machinery were to be asked to send exhibits to the Fair which should be operated by the Exposition management, the ice benig sold to consumers both inside the grounds and out and cool air to such buildings as desired it.

Mr. Voorheen, who is a refrigerating engineer of recognized ability, explained to the association and read papers telling how A. L. Shapleigh had been made chairman of an Exposition committee on refrigeration and had undertaken to interest manufacturers. Failing in this the services of Mr. Voorhees were secured and he made personal visits to manufacturers and secured exhibits from eight big concerns, the Exposition committee characterizing his work as admirable.

Early in 1903 the plans were completed by Mr. Voorhees and approved by the management. President Francis then went to Europe without closing the contracts with exhibitors or starting Mr. Voorhees on his work.

Taylor Opposed Exhibit Plans.

While President Francis was gone, Mr. Voorhees says, he could accomplish nothing, because of the opposition of Isaac S. Taylor, director of works, and the building and grounds committee.

At this time, he says, he discovered that "strong interests" had planned to build a plant and get the concession to furnish all the ice to the Exposition, and that a company with this end in view had been incorporated in Delaware in May, 1903.

Mr. Voorhees protested and wrote letters, but the management argued that it must abandon his plans, because it had no available funds to carry them out. The result of Mr. Voorhees' protests, however, was that President Francis entered into contracts with exhibitors for four machines in June and July. This did not help Mr. Voorhees and his exhibit at all.

Mr. Voorhees says the opposition of Mr. Taylor and of Treasurer Thompson was so strong that President Francis was between two fires, and that although the opponents could not secure a vote of the executive committee against the refrigeration exhibit, they were able to defeat it by delay.

President Francis Explains Change.

Lack of funds was given as the reason for the change of plans, and on Jan. 26 Mr. Voorhees resigned. The concession for furnishing ice and cooled air to the management was then let to Mr. Ball.

President Francis, in accepting Mr. Voorhees' resignation, wrote the following letter:

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27, 1904.—Mr. Gardner T. Voorhees, Administration Building, St. Louis, Mo.: Dear Sir—In accepting your resignation, dated Jan. 26th, as chief of the bureau of refrigeration, I desire on behalf of the Exposition company to state that your connection with the company is severed because of the change in the company's plans for a refrigeration exhibit. Instead of having a collective exhibit, composed of a number of machines of different manufacture of varied properties, the management concluded to combine in a commercial agreement, with one manufacturer, the only live refrigerating exhibit. This change of plan is attributable to a number of causes, but it is not due in any sense to any lack of ability on your part as a refrigerating engineer. I willingly testify to your qualifications as an engineer of refrigeration, and if in the future the company should have any need of the services of such an official, I know of no reason why the position should not be tendered to you.

You are furthermore authorized to refer to me any parties who may desire information concerning your qualifications as a refrigerating engineer. The company's present arrangement is such as to preclude the manufacture of ice or the generation of refrigeration within the grounds for sale by any party other than the one with whom the Exposition company has an agreement, as stated above; consequently I cannot see that the Exposition company will have occasion for the services of a consulting refrigerating engineer. Therefore, the position of honorary or advisory refrigerating engineer, which I suggested to you some time ago will not, for the present at least, be established.

In the event the Exposition company should permit the installation of ice or refrigerating plants in the state or foreign buildings, or in any of the exhibit palaces for the exclusive use of the parties establishing them, and the director of works or the director of exhibits should desire to submit the plans therefore to a refrigerating engineer, you will in all probability be selected, providing your services could be promptly secured. Such a course, however, on the part of the Exposition would be greatly dependent upon the relations you will maintain toward the company.

The Exposition, availing itself of the option in its concession contracts, has notified its concessionaires, with possibly one exception, that it elects to furnish whatever ice and refrigeration they may require. Your truly,

D. R. FRANCIS, President.

TOOK POISON AFTER QUARREL.

Mrs. Hanson Then Refused to Go to Hospital.

Mrs. Laura Hanson, a handsome young woman who recently came here from New York, quarreled with her husband Monday morning at their boarding house, 3012 Laclede avenue, and swallowed an ounce of white iodine.

Dr. John Rader, who was called, feared that peritonitis might result from the poisoning and ordered her sent to the City Hospital, but she refused to go and was treated at her home.

Credit Men Discuss Bureau.

At a meeting of the St. Louis Credit Men's Association at the Mercantile Club Monday evening the question of establishing an investigation and prosecution bureau will be passed upon. The members will also discuss the systematic interchange of ledger experiences and matters to be presented to the ninth annual convention, to be held in New York this month.

POLICE CHIEFS WAIT FOR AN INVOCATION

Delay in Arrival of Archbishop Glennon Causes Convention to Change Its Program.

The second annual meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police was called to order in the Hall of Congresses, adjoining the Fair Administration building at 10 o'clock Monday morning. About 500 chiefs from nearly every large city in the United States were present, including Chief Kiely and Chief Desmond and the captains of the St. Louis police force.

After the meeting was called to order Mayor Wells, in a short speech, welcomed the chiefs to St. Louis and said that the people of the city had every reason to congratulate themselves on the ability and watchfulness of the local police force.

Maj. Sylvester thanked Mayor Wells in behalf of the chiefs, and said that when a boy in St. Louis, he knew the Mayor's father.

President William G. Frye of the police board delivered a short address of welcome to the chiefs, and a recess was taken to await the arrival of Archbishop Glennon, who was to have delivered the invocation.

A letter of regret was read by Maj. Sylvester from M. Bertillon, and also one from Commissioner Sin Cain Hen of Seoul, Corea, in which he inclosed five yen for his fees.

The chiefs returned to the Inside Inn for lunch and then started for a tour of the Pike. All the Pike concessionaires notified Chief Kiely, who has charge of the entertainment of the chiefs, that everything would be "wide open" for the guests during their stay.

"WISE" PATROLMEN "RAP TO" THE DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

Patrolmen at the Fair grounds have temporarily ceased making a study of crooks and are "piping" the chiefs. There stood in front of the Hall of Congresses two local patrolmen who could "rap to" a large number of chiefs. Here is a part of their conversation:

"There comes Matt Kiely sandwiched in between Dick Sylvester of Washington and Frank O'Neill of Chicago.

"Sylvester, they tell me, is an old St. Louis newspaper man. He's been on the police force there for 20 years. They say he is a wise guy, and a friend of the copper, too. Sylvester is the president of the association, and one of the things he is going to do at the convention is to urge that policemen be better paid."

"You seem to be dead stuck on Sylvester. Frank O'Neill can sew buttons on any of the rest as an officer. I was in Chicago when Frank walked a beat on Halstead street and had to deal with some bad thugs. He worked his way up the ladder. Carter Harrison thinks he is the whole cheese. Since Jack Shea died, O'Neill is the best police officer there. O'Neill has dropped his man.

Mistake to Take Him for a Jay.

"But here comes a wonder. That fellow with whiskers down his chin is Chief Rea of Fort Worth, Tex. He has caught more crooks, murderers and horse thieves than any chief in the bunch. Anybody that takes him for a jay will get left. He is popular all over Texas. If a crook is wanted, Rea doesn't send one of his men; he goes out and brings him in himself."

"Who is that one-armed man?"

"That's Kline of Amsterdam, N. Y. I saw him peeling an apple between his knees at the Inside Inn this morning. If he can catch a thief as quickly he is all right. That big red-faced fellow with him is McCabe of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who knows every hobo along the Hudson river. He told me this morning that there was a bum named "Daisy" Dean whom he had arrested no less than 225 times. Dean would break a window in the police station to get locked up on a cold night."

"Here comes a fine-looking fellow. Who is he?"

"That's Chief Janssen of Milwaukee. He is a polished gentleman, and what do you think; he actually refused to drink beer. Janssen handles more elopement cases than all the other fellows combined. Janssen is a diplomatic sort of a fellow. He sweats people by giving them beer and cigars. That jolly, fat fellow with him is Frank Cassada of Elmira, N. Y., first vice-president of the association. He's a second Bill Devery. He's too fat to catch a thief."

Gets Goods on Green Goods Men.

"You see that thin, tall man walking with those two military looking men. His name is Benny Murphy of Jersey City. Benny has caught a lot of green-goods men in his day. He wrote a play one time and had the police officers of Jersey City produce it. It was a big hit, and the proceeds went to the relief association. The men with him are Col. A. P. Sherwood of Ottawa, Canada, and Col. Fernando Gonzales of the City of Mexico.

"Sherwood is a British army officer and a half-hour talk with him is a liberal education. The man from Mexico is a son of the former President of Mexico, who was both preceded and succeeded by Diaz. He knows more about the army than he does about police matters.

"I don't see anybody here from New York City."

"Well, they're coming. Commissioner McAdoo and some of the inspectors are expected. Those Gotham fellows get a bank roll quick, don't they?"

"Who's here from Boston?"

"Here they come. Chief of Police Pierce and Inspector of Detectives Watts. They are both Billy. The police in Boston carry billies instead of guns. Watts is a clever crook-getter."

"Ah, what yer talking about? They never saw a good thief in the Bean City. Bet they never heard of Bill Rudolph there."

"Did Cincinnati send a man?"

"Yes, Paul Milliken, superintendent of police, is here. Nobody will snub him. His pal, there, is John Journee of New Orleans. Notice how flat-chested he is. Cartoonists won't do a thing to his make-up, will they? Right behind them is Chief Howard of Richmond, Va. He was telling me that the police down his way kill a negro as quick as Jack Cosgrove of Newark, N. J., would a mosquito.

"Cosgrove is that black-mustached, fat fellow there, with all the diamonds on. Cosgrove is with Tom Farnan, the marshal of Baltimore. Farnan had a whole lot to contend with in and after the big fire.

"Farnan and Chief Graul of Paterson have been talking fires all morning. The Paterson fire was a big one, too. Graul looks like John Badenoch, who was Chicago's chief under Mayor Swift.

"There comes the three wise guys. The two Pinkertons, Bob and Billy, and Phil Holland. You know the Pinkertons well enough, but Holland is a stranger to you, I'll bet. Who is he? Why, Phil runs the detective paper devoted to police departments all over the country.

"Here comes a big, smooth-faced, sporting-looking fellow. I wonder who he is? He was spending money sailor fashion on the Pike Saturday night."

"That's Chief Walsh of Dawson City, up where the goldfields are. The men with him are Charles McMaster of Auburn, N. Y.; J. H. H[illegible]ger of Louisville, John T. Harris of [illegible]wn, Pa., and Fred W. Hill of [illegible], Tenn. They all look [illegible] officers, don't they?"

Ju[illegible] [illegible] "transferred" the tw[illegible] [illegible]ty inside the hall.

SCRATCHES SPOIL DELMAR FEATUER

Both Harmakis and Forehand Withdrawn From Fourth, Leaving Four Starters.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DELMAR RACE TRACK, June 6.—The track was in bad condition from bride to bridge on the turn, but had dried out in both the stretches.

The fields all went very wide on both the turns.

The withdrawal of both Harmarkis and Forehand from the fourth race spoiled the race. Algonquin, Falkland, Jerry Hunt and Potente were scratched from the sixth.

G. C. Bennett was among the visitors.

Seventeen books and two fielders went on.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, June 6.—The Senaators and the Browns tied up at Sportsman's Park today in the second match of their four-game series.

It was Ladies' day at the American League Park and the ladies turned out in full force to see the old favorite of the fair fans, "Patsy" Donovan.

Donovan and his team received a great reception for their lucky game of yesterday, and the enthusiasm of the spectators was about evenly divided.

The field was in excellent condition and the weather was almost ideal for baseball.

No changes of any importance were announced in their batting or field make-up of either team. Manager Donovan sent Dunkle in to the box to redeem the defeat of yesterday, with Kittredge as backstop. McAleer selected Siever, with Sugden catching.

"SPEAK NOTHING BUT GOOD OF DEAD," SAYS CORBETT OF AN ANCIENT FOE, "FITZ."

James J. Corbett—"Jim"—monologist and ex-champion pugilist, arrived in St. Louis Monday morning on a peaceful mission.

He will be in town one week with his show at one of the summer gardens, and as Bob Fitzsimmons is not in St. Louis now the chances are against anything gory resulting from the visit.

"The most scientific heavyweight that ever stepped over the ropes" spoke freely of the coming Munroe and Jeffries fight and other live topics, but declined anything about his ancient enemy.

"Speak nothing but good of the dead," he quoted, in regard to Fitz, "Fitz is dead and buried. To help him out I am going to get him to do a little turn with the show on 'How to Talk Blood and Avoid a Show Down.'"

"About the fight between Jeffries and the miner, I can't see anything but 'Jeff.' I never fought Munroe, but I have fought Jeff twice and I know that no man like the miner is ever going to cop him. As I told Jeff that night in his corner at Frisco after my fight that I was going to be the biggest booster he would ever have, and 'Jeff' deserves it. He can come very near to beating any three of us in the same ring in one night and he will murder this fellow Munroe. Munroe for place is the best bet in pugilism now."

LAVIN'S ACCUSERS MISSING.

The case against Timothy Lavin, charged with implication in the "Indian" outrages at the Democratic primaries last March, was called Monday morning, but when the state found that ten of its witnesses were not in court it asked for attachments and continuance until 2 o'clock.

The missing witnesses for whom attachments were issued were Daniel Hatton, Dorsey A. Jamieson, J. C. Schultz, John R. McCann, Lloyd Schock, John Esterman, Joseph McCaffrey, John R. McCarthy, Delegate Isaac Conran and William R. Jones.

Lineman Sues for $10,

William Gillin filed suit against the Bell Telephone Co. Monday in circuit court for $10,000 damages, alleging that as a result of not being provided with rubber gloves by the Bell Co. for which he was employed as a lineman, he received a shock from a Missouri Edison wire March 7, 1903, and was knocked to the street [illegible] feet below. His right leg was broken in four places, his arm was fractured, his head was injured and he was wholly incapacitated for work, he alleges.

SONS OF HELLAS SIP AMBER NECTAR

Draughts From Can in Alley Cost Countrymen of Homer $5 and Costs Each.

Geo. Macoples, Peron Damoclos, Gus and Andrew Denergernules, Christian Laron, Geo. Sperwelle, Wm. Damales, John Ferdutus, Christian Damocoll, Andrew and Alexander Damocles and Denos Corteelus, countrymen of the late Messrs. Homer and Demosthenes, were arrested at Ninth and Mullanphy streets Sunday afternoon by Officers Schweiger and Purcell while canning beer.

Before Judge Pollard in the Dayton Street police court Monday morning the officers testified that they stood half a block away from the canning party and watched every man take a drink. None of the men speaks English, but through an interpreter they admitted that there was a canning party on, but asserted that only five of the 12 drank. After hearing the evidence Judge Pollard fined each $5 and costs, making $96 in all.

WEDDING SUPPER WITHOUT GROOM

Friends of Miss Summers Learned Her Intended Was Flood-Bound, but Ate Repast.

The wedding of Miss Pearl Summers and Mr. Harley Haug, a business man of Arcadia, O. T., which was to have been solemnized at 3619 St. Louis avenue, where the aunt of the prospective bride is stopping, did not take place, though the wedding supper was served to those who gathered to witness the ceremony.

It was not the fault of the groom that he did not put in an appearance, as he was detained by the floods which have been delaying travel through Arkansas for the past two or three days. Telegrams of regret from the stormbound groom were received, regretting that he could not be present at his wedding supper, and promising to be present as soon as the elements would allow him to come.

The assembled party made the best of the situation, and the disappointed bride did the best she could to dispel the gloom that hung about until the cause of the delay was learned.

Mr. Haug is expected to arrive today, and will waste no time to make Miss Summers his wife.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

MAYOR WELCOMES WATERWORKS MEN

Twenty-Fourth Annual Convention of the American Association in Session.

PLAN MUCH ENTERTAINMENT

Organization Was Formed in St. Louis a Quarter of a Century Ago.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the American Waterworks Association commenced Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the Hotel Jefferson with an address of welcome by Mayor Wells. The response was made by the president of the association, L. N. Chase. A reception to the visiting members was then held. This afternoon will be spent by the most of the members at the Fair.

Meetings will be held each day this week, the convention closing Friday evening, while the entire day Saturday will be spent at the Fair. The local committee on arrangements has prepared a program for the entertainment of the visitors, taking up the full time each day. There will be excursions on the river, visits to the breweries, racetracks and baseball games. Water Commissioner Ben C. Adkins is chairman and William D. Walsh secretary of this committee.

The association includes in its membership the engineers and superintendents of the waterworks systems in nearly every city and town in the United States, both private and municipal corporations. It was organized in St. Louis 24 years ago. The programs for the business sessions include the reading of papers upon the technical work and matters which present themselves to those in charge of systems in the performance of their work.

The association will have headquarters at the Hotel Jefferson, and the members will meet there each day before going to the Exposition building, Thirteenth and Olive streets, where the business sessions will be held.

The officers of the association are: President, L. N. Chase; first vice-president, Morris R. Sherrerd; second vice-president, Thomas H. Bennett; third vice-president, Charles E. Rowe; fourth vice-president, Benjamin C. Adkins; fifth vice-president, A. A. Tucker; finance committee, H. E. Keeler, Robert J. Thomas and George J. Dunbaugh; secretary and treasurer, J. H. Diven.

Cheap Rent or Board

Can be had at points on C., P. & St. L. Ry., near St. Louis; excellent commutation service and low rates. Hotel Chautauqua, new and first-class, now open. Call at 206 North Fourth street for particulars.

DIES BY THE ART HUSBAND TAUGHT

Mrs. Eugene Bribach Shot Herself With Deadly Accuracy While Despondent.

Following the example of her brother Christian Ambuehl, who committed suicide many years ago, Mrs. Margaret Bribach, wife of Dr. Eugene Bribach, attending physician at St. Mary's Infirmary, shot herself in the left temple while in her room at her home, 1828 Chouteau avenue, Sunday morning, dying a few minutes afterwards.

The shot was heard by her son, Eugene Bribach, Jr., who was sitting down stairs with the other members of the family. He rushed to his mother's room and found her lying on the bed, unconscious. Dr. Bribach was absent at the time, but was at once called. He arrived a few minutes before his wife's death.

Mrs. Bribach had risen early Sunday morning, but afterwards returned to her room. She called her husband before he went out to visit the infirmary and asked him to prescribe for her, saying she felt ill. Ten minutes later she shot herself.

The revolver used was an old one Dr. Bribach had owned before his marriage, but which Mrs. Bribach claimed as her own. She was familiar with the weapon, having been taught by her husband how to use it.

Dr. Bribach believes his wife's suicide was due to nervousness and melancholia. She had suffered from insomnia and melancholia more than a year.

Many years ago her brother, Christian Ambuehl, committed suicide by jumping off Eads bridge. Mrs. Bribach frequently referred to it, remarking that she would probably go the same way.

Mrs. Bribach was 43 years old. Her maiden name was Margaret Ambuehl and she was born in Highland, Ill.

The members of the surviving family are Eugene Bribach, aged 22, a medical student 18; Oscar, aged 17, and Benno, aged 15. A sister of Mrs. Bribach, Mrs. Barbara Wulf of Fayette County, Missouri, and a brother, Nicholas Ambuehl of Highland, Ill., have been notified.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning. Services will be held at the residence at 9 o'clock. The body will be incinerated and the ashes taken to Mrs. Bribach's girlhood home at Highland, Ill.

Thirty-Seven Craps Players Arrested.

The noises incident to a negro craps game attracted the attention of the police to a game in the basement of a saloon at 800 North Seventh street early Sunday morning. The players had forgotten to close a small window opening on to the sidewalk, and in their enthusiasm talked louder than they intended. Twenty-one players were arrested. A short time later 17 negroes were caught at a game in a room in the rear of 710 North Fifteenth street.

Head Struck Trolley Pole.

Mrs. Amanda Jones of 712 North Eleventh street, East St. Louis, was seriously injured Sunday night at Marcus avenue. Mrs. Jones was on a Page avenue car and at Marcus avenue put her head out of the car window and was struck by a trolley pole, sustaining a severe scalp wound. After her wounds were dressed she was taken to her home.

Impersonated an Officer.

Benjamin Cats, bricklayer, 36 years of age, living at 716 Biddle street, was arrested Sunday on suspicion of representing himself as an officer. Louis Storm of 1508 Gay street, charged that Cats represented himself to him, Storm, as a policeman and demanded $100 for a peddler's license. Not having the money, Storm asserts that he pawned his watch and chain for $35, which he gave to Cats.

he market during the closing hours me exceeding dull, and for minutes at a time the tape failed to register a quotation.

Some minor-priced stocks were pressed for sale, and Great Western showed quite a sharp decline. The first preferred "A" stock selling at 47½. The lowest price established in this security in 6 years. The highest price on this issue was 90½ in 1901, and the price today marks a decline of 43 per share. The continued decline in net earnings and the effects being felt in traffic on account of the lake tie-up is mentioned as the cause of today's weakness.

Conditions in the bond markets show practically no changes, the sales for May being $31,000,000, or about $14,000,000 less than in May, 1903, and $26,000,000 less than 1902, showing the utter stagnation existing in the present investment market for all classes of securities.

Continued dullness marked the closing. Ontario & Western made further fractional gains, the general market failed to respond and prices closed steady and very close to last night's figures.

Opening prices and changes were as follows: Copper 49½, advance ¼; Atchison 69, unchanged; Baltimore & Ohio 78½, advance ¼; Erie 23⅝, advance ⅛; Missouri Pacific 89⅝, advance ¼; Pennsylvania 113½, decline ⅛; Reading 45, unchanged; St. Paul 140⅛, advance ⅛; Southern Pacific 45; Union Pacific 83, unchanged; United States Steel 9⅛, advance ⅛; United States Steel preferred 53⅝, unchanged.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Only a dozen stocks were quoted in the first five minutes of the trading and of these half were unchanged. The others showed mixed gains and losses of ⅛ to ¼, except General Electric, which rose a point, and Virginia Carroll and Chemical ½.

Ontario & Western touched 25⅛ before the demand for it was satisfied. Prices then sagged to below last week. Amalgamated Copper lost its rise. Losses of 1 to 1¼ were made by the Colorado & Southern stocks, Tennessee Coal and Cotton Oil preferred, U. S. Steel preferred and Locomotive fell moderate fractions.

Bonds were irregular at noon.

Minor railroad and industrial stocks broke heavily on small offerings. Business in other quarters was practically suspended. Chicago Great Western fell off 1, the preferred "B" 5, and the preferred "A" 8 points, without adequate explanation.

ADMIRING GUESTS AT ITALY'S PALACE

Italy's pavilion at the Fair was dedicated Monday afternoon with a reception, to which Commissioner-General Branchi and Chevalier Vittorio Zeggio invited several hundred guests.

The pavilion is located on a small hill, just southeast of the Administration building. It is of a fancy Graeco-Roman type on the style of the villas of the emperors in the Cesarian age. The pavilion proper looks out upon a beautiful garden, the outer edge of which is adorned with an imposing colonnade.

At each end of the colonnade is a pillar, surmounted by a gilded bronze sculptured figure of Victory. The bases of the pillars are decorated with bas-reliefs. The "Victories" are the work of Bialetti, a noted sculptor of Milan. One is crowned with the Italian laurel. The other holds the olive branch of peace.

The bas-relief have little symbolic figures of genii carved in imitation of an ancient Italian style. On one pillar the genius of Marconi is represented, while on the other the enterprise of America is portrayed.

Between these corner pillars are several smaller pillars, each surmounted with flowers. The colonnade is of the Ionic style. The staircase leading through the colonnade and into the gardens is about 90 feet wide. The garden is modeled after an ancient garden in which the Romans grew their laurel.

Another staircase, 45 feet wide, leads from the garden to the main building. The building bears the inscription "Itali" in golden letters near its roof. It is announced that this is to be supplanted soon with an inscription of "Kind Greetings of the Country of Columbus to the Young and Already so Powerful American Nation."

The front of the building is elaborately ornamented with sculptured figures and bronze vases, and is also embellished with two towering poles resting on bronze bases. One will fly the Italian emblem and one the stars and stripes. Such poles were frequently used by the Romans on festal occasions.

The bas-reliefs gird the entire building. They typify various important discoveries in science and art and navigation. One represents the last searches for the North Pole.

The grand vestibule will be decorated in mosaics made in Italy. The vestibule opens into a large reception hall and two smaller reception rooms for the commissioners.

Vases and paintings, some of them of great age and value, are exhibited in this room. Among them are a copy of the famous Etruscan vase, called the "Vase of Francois," and a marble copy of the Roman group of wrestlers. In the same hall, oil paintings of their royal majesties, the King and Queen of Italy, are hung beneath the inscripeion "Italia Lux Alma Praevit."

Signor Edmondo Mayor Des Planches, Italy's minister to the United States, will take part in the dedication.

DIED A MARTYR TO DOG-CHARITY

Aged Mrs. Heinkel Endured Imprisonment Rather Than Abandon Stray Curs.

Mrs. Mary Heinkel, the best friend that stray dogs of St. Louis ever had, is dead.

Six weeks ago she was struck and run over by a wagon driven by John Keim, and so badly injured that she never recovered. She died at her home, 2017 South Second street, Sunday morning.

Mrs. Heinkel was 90 years old, and the loyal friend of all dogs. Stray canines, of any or no breeding—pups, old hounds, decrepit St. Bernards and mangy terriers—appealed to her, and she gave them a home.

Neighbors protested, but did not swerve her from her dog-charity. They had her arrested, and she went to the workhouse for her convictions. They poisoned her dogs, and she buried them and got others in their places.

Mrs. Heinkel's love for dogs first became a matter of public record two years ago, at which time she had about 40 curs kenneled in and around her house.

Naturally, the 40 curs raised 40 kinds of noise at all times of the day and night, and this noise bothered everybody except heir old friend. The howling and yelping that drove her neighbors to distraction and the law was sweet music to her ears, and she declared that as dogs, since the first one found a habitation on earth, had enjoyed the privilege of barking and howling, they should still have that privilege as far as she could give it to them.

When the old woman was taken before the police court she refused to obey the court's order to get rid of her dogs, and was sent to the workhouse. Her determination to stick to her dogs was not shaken by the imprisonment, but after she had been in the prison two months her health began to fail and she was pardoned by the mayor.

In the meantime her kennel had been sadly depleted, and her canine friends vere few to greet her on her return. These few found her none the less their friend, and to her death she loved and cared for them.

April 27 last, Mrs. Heinkel, while crossing the street at Broadway and Carroll street, was struck by the wagon driven by Keim. Her injuries would not have been serious had she been younger, but her advanced age made her recovery impossible.

COLLEGE CADETS ARRIVING.

Cadets are still coming to the Fair. Among those scheduled for arrival Monday were 150 from the Western Military Academy of Upper Alton, Ill., under command of Col. A. M. Jackson; 60 from Kansas Wesleyan College, Saline, Kan., under command of Maj. E. J. Laird, and 100 from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb., under command of Capt. Wilson Chase, U. S. A. Sunday a company of 100 men from the Roanoke, Va., Light infantry arrived. The Culver cadets are scheduled to return Monday.

During the remainder of their stay here the West Point cadets will drill twice daily, in the morning from 10 to 11 o'clock and in the afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the Plaza St. Louis.

Robbed on Car.

Mrs. William E. Muth, living at 1449 Carr Lane avenue, while standing on the rear platform of an east-bound Olive street car, was robbed of her purse, containing $18 and several keys and trinkets, Sunday afternoon.

DONOVAN COMMISSION CO. ON THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—As a weather prophet, I am a corker. When I need a job I think I'll file an application for chief steerer of the Weather Bureau. A fellow who can beat the service in the wire is all right. Old Sol is right with us again with the smile that won't come off and the "demned unpleasant moisture" of last week is doing nothing but good now to the crops. TRANSIT'S STATEMENT LIFTS PRICE

United Railways Preferred Shows Some Improvement and Sales Were Quite Heavy.

INVESTMENT DEMAND BONDS

Industrial Section Unchanged and Traders Indisposed to Enter the Market at This Time.

The favorable monthly statement of the Transit company was reflected this morning in slightly better prices for the Traction issues and several sales of United Railways preferred were recorded at slightly higher figures. Transit failed to find a purchaser, but was steady at $13.50 bid for considerable amounts. United Railway 4s showed some improvement in the bid price, with no sales recorded.

An odd lot of 2 shares of Mechanics' Bank changed hands at $265, with more wanted at a slightly higher figure. The balance of the trust and bank issues brought out only indifferent bids for small amounts.

A small investment was apparent in Missouri Edison 5s, but the miscellaneous bond list was almost neglected and no sales established.

The industrial and mining department was entirely neglected and prices mentioned were far apart in bid and asked prices.

ANOTHER DECLINE IN ZINC.

Joplin Reserve Increases to 2000 Tons—Shortage of Cars.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 6.—The highest price for zinc reported last week was $38 for one bin—another decrease of 50 cents from last week's price.

The reserve stock has been increased to 2000 tons. Shippers say this is due to a lack of cars, as is frequently the case when the demand is light.

GRAIN MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

CHICAGO, June 6.—As a result of bearish weekly statistics and easier cables sentiment in the wheat pit today was weak. More favorable weather throughout the West and Southwest contributed to the weakness. July opened ⅛c to ½c lower at 87⅛c to 88c, sold off to 87⅝@87¾c, and after rallying to 88@88⅛c, the price again declined to 87¾@87⅞c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 352 cars, as against 450 cars a year ago.

Liberal receipts, a large increase in the amount on passage, easier cables and improved weather conditions [illegible] weakness in corn. July opened ½@⅝c [illegible] ¾@⅞c lower at 49c to 49¼c, sold at 49⅝c and reacted to 49@49⅛c.

Weakness of wheat and corn had a depressing influence on oats. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 39⅝c to 39¾c, and held within the opening range.

The feature of trading in provisions was the selling of September lard by commission houses. September pork opened unchanged at $11.75, and sold off to $11.72½. September lard was down 2½c to 2½@5c, opening at $6.52½@6.55 to $6.55. Ribs opened 2½c higher at $6.87½.

WEAKENED BY BRIGHT SUNSHINE

Selling on the Favorabel hange in the Weather Caused Decline in All Grain.

CLOSED NEAR THE BOTTOM

Buying of Wheat Free by Leading Traders, but Failed to Check Decline.

Cool clear weather and no indications of a change to the rains and floods that bulled grain values last week led to selling that weakened values materially in wheat, corn and oats. Besides liquidation by longs that this brought about, there was a resumption of bearish sentiment and speculation that made the selling side altogether the most favored. There was heavy buying of wheat for the people who made a special private car crop investigation last week, but could not hold the market up and the close was very near the bottom for the day. A smaller decrease in the wheat visible than looked for and a good increase in the corn visible had a bearish influence, and nothing in the cables on cash situation was sufficiently bullish to offset the fine weather.

WHEAT—The most favorable weather map in over a week was the influence that had most effect this morning and opened all domestic markets lower. Market cables reported declines of ⅛d at Liverpool, ⅜d at London and ¼c at Paris, but these much smaller than in America Saturday, and Liverpool recovered ⅛d of its loss, though world's shipments larger than expected owing to heavy Russian exports, and amount afloat increased 672,000 bu where decreasing 664,000 bu a year ago. Receipts at St. Louis were 39,700 bu, against 6500 bu last year, and 31,500 bu at Kansas City, against nine (flood) a year ago. July opened in the local market ¼c lower at 86½c and sold off to 86½c @ ¼c. September sold at 82⅜c and December at 83⅛c and later the former offered at 82⅛c.

Buying was active at the decline, largely for the St. Louis traders, just returned from a crop investigation tour, and July rallied to 86½@86⅝c (86⅝c was bid) and September to 82½c, but weakened again influenced by reports that harvest beginning in Kansas. July sold off to 86c and September to 82c, but former reacted to 86⅜c before noon. Closing cables reported declines for day of ¼d in Liverpool and London and ¼@½c in Paris, ⅛c advance in Budapest and unchanged for Berlin and Antwerp. Primary receipts for 48 hours were 418,000 bu, against 499,000 bu for same time last year, and shipments 714,000 bu, against 370,000 bu one year ago. Clearances in flour and wheat were 150,400.

July sold up to 86½c, but subsequently the whole market a disappointing increase in the visible having considerable effect. July sold off to 86@86⅛c and Sept. was offered at 81¾c and Dec. at 82⅞c. A rally to 86⅜c made late in July and 86⅛@86¼c bid at close when Sept. sold at 81⅞c and Dec. had 82⅞c bid. The visible decreased 978,000 bu, compared with 1,817,000 bu decrease a year ago.

Cash market—Steady and choice grades hard winter higher. From here, 10,000 bu. No. 2 old, at $1.06 f. o. b. By sample, delivered, No. 2, at $1.08@1.09; No. 3, at $1.05 and quortable at $1.03@1.06; No. 4, nominally 55c@$1.00; No. 2 hard, at 90½@95c; No. 3 hard, at $85@87½. Fancy Turkey, at 92c; No. 4 hard, at 80@85c; No. 2 spring, at 95c; No. 2 white spring, at $1.00; No. 3 nominally 98c.

The increase in the visible weakened the market still more, July selling at 47⅝c, and September at 46⅜c; the close at 47⅝c sellers and 46⅜. Visible increased 520,000 bu, against 45,000 bu increase a year ago.

CORN—Excellent weather condition, present and prospective, was the principal weakening factor in this grain also. They started all outside markets with a downward inclination and led to quite a pressure to sell locally. July opened ⅜c lower, at 48¼c and sold down to 48c. For September 46⅜c bid. Receipts were good, but the 116,000 bu not half those of a week ago. A year ago only 10,100 bu in. Liverpool was only ¼d lower, though large world's shipments reported, besides an increase afloat of 2,013,000 bu, against 2,631,000 bu increase a year ago.

There was little reaction from the early decline and another relapse soon took place, July selling at 47¾c. September opened at 46⅝@46¾c and sold off to 46½c. December sold at 42c. Primary receipts for forty-eight hours were 801,000 bu, against 468,000 bu one year ago, and shipments 47,000 bu, against 840,000 bu last year. Clearances were 3850 bu.

Cash Market—Lower and good demand, but considerable carried over. By sample delivered: Local No. 2 at 48½@49½c; No. 3 at 47@48c; No. 4 at 42c nominally to 44c; no grade at 35@36c; No. 2 yellow at 49@49½c; No. 3 yellow at 48½c; No. 2 white at 50@50½c; No. 3 do at 45c for poor to 49@49½c; No. 3 do at 45c for poor to 49@49½c; No. 4 do at 42c. Destination: No. 2 49@49½c; No. 3 No. 3 at 48c; No. 2 white at 50½c; No. 3 do at 49@50c.

OATS—Favorable weather and declines in all other grain had a bearish effect and July offered ⅛c lower, at 37⅛c, without a buyer. Receipts were 75,600 bu, against 8100 bu a year ago.

Later in the forenoon July was offered at 37c and September at 30⅞c. Primary receipts for 48 hours were 466,000 bu, against 485,000 bu one year ago, and shipments 257,000 bu, against 247,000 bu last year. Clearances were 12,000 bu.

Late in the session there was trading in July at 37c and September at 30¾c, closing at these rates with sellers of September. Visible decreased 636,000 bu, against 586,000 bu decrease a year ago.

Cash market—Steady; good demand for good grades and selections firm. By sample delivered—No. 2 at 42@42½c and choice 43c; No. 3 at 41@41½c; No. 4 at 40c; no grade at 39½c; No. 2 white at 45½c; No. 3 white at 44@45c; No. 4 white at 40@43½c and shipping 41@41½c; Standard at 45c.

Trade Topics.

Russia enlarged her exports of wheat last week, they exceeding the week before by 1,000,000 bushels. India kept up its 2,000,000 bushel rate, and North America showed a further increase, with the result that last week's shipments by exporting countries went above 10,000,000 bushels. The total keeps below that of a year ago as it has for several weeks past.

Liverpool wheat declined on the lower markets in America Saturday and the increase in Russian shipments, but rallied on reported floods in Kansas and the official Austria-Hungary report indicating a crop of 117,600,000 bu, against 157,600,000 bu last year. America's decline caused lower prices in corn, but steady tone, owing to official statement that drouth in Austria-Hungary unfavorable for corn crop.

Martin, just finished a trip of nearly three thousand miles, in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, says of crop conditions: "Western Illinois promises a fair crop, as does Missouri, Kansas, Northern Indian Territory and Northern Oklahoma. Elsewhere crop ranges from one-half to nothing. Especially does latter apply to Ohio and Indiana, where it is difficult to estimate acreage plowed up for other grains and many fields yet standing will be abandoned or cut at a loss. The crop everywhere appears to be two to three weeks late.

The acreage of corn is very large and mostly up, with good stand, but very late. Oats—enormous acreage, fine stand and color."

Very respectfully,

(Signed) L. S. HICKMAN, Supervisor.

Since the above statement was made the Missouri State deposit has been increased to $308,250.00.

To the Holders of the Capital Stock of the Mexican Central Railway Company, Limited:

In view of the large floating debt of the Company, of the recent effort to classify the Board of Directors without previous notice to the stockholders, and of the published call by Bankers for the deposit of bonds for the protection of the interest of the bondholders of the Company, it seems necessary that a committee should be formed for the protection of the interests of the stockholders, and we have, at the request of holders of considerable amounts of stock, consented to act as such committee.

An agreement for this purpose has accordingly been prepared, dated May 24, 1904, copies of which can be obtained at the office of the Depositary, Central Trust Company of New York, No. 54 Wall Street, New York City, and at the agency of the Depositary, Old Colony Trust Company, Ames Building, Boston, Mass.

Holders of stock may deposit the same under said agreement with the Depositary in the City of New York, or in Boston at its said agency. Stock deposited may be withdrawn, without charge, as provided in the agreement. Certificates of the Depositary will be issued for the stock deposited, and an application will be made as soon as practicable to have such certificates listed upon the New York Stock Exchange.

The right is reserved to terminate the privilege of deposit at any time without previous notice.

Dated, New York, May 24, 1904.

Short Talks on Publicity—No. 5

Every working day different problems in marketing goods are brought to the attention of a first class advertising agency. Each problem presents its peculiar features. Some of these problems cannot be solved by advertising, and a reputable agent will refuse to advise a campaign just as a good lawyer will not recommend an ill-timed law suit. Constant dealing with many phases of marketing goods, and the actual use of many different mediums all over the country—newspapers, magazines and other forms of advertising—put the agency in possession of data simply invaluable to anyone with anything to sell.

MARK TWAIN'S WIFE IS DEAD IN ITALY

She Succumbed to Syncope at Resort, Whither Her Husband Took Her for Her Health.

FLORENCE, Italy, June 6.—Mrs. Samuel M. Clemens, the wife of "Mark Twain," he American author and lecturer, died of syncope here yesterday evening.

The remains will be sent to the United States for interment.

"The best of consorts, the truest of friends, the kindest of critics."

That was the beautiful tribute to his wife publicly paid by Mark Twain at a birthday dinner given in his honor at the Metropolitan Club in New York.

With unmistakable depth of feeling the great humorist added:

"Her heart, my heart, our single heart, you will find full of love and memory for you all. My birthday will be tomorrow, and hers, God bless her, was Thursday."

In proportion to the fame of her husband, Mrs. Samuel L. Clemens was perhaps heard less of than the wife of any prominent American of today. Yet not only had she individuality and a very great personal charm, but she was intimately identified with every later phase of the humorist's development and life. He himself has said that she was his constant inspiration.

Mrs. Clemens was very near death last summer. She was stricken with nervous prostration while at York Harbor, Me. There had been little or no improvement in her condition, and the doctors were fearful that she might not pull through the illness. With infinite tenderness the humorist watched over her, inspiring hope and cheer. He neglected all outside engagements and set aside most of his work for her sake.

She Was Miss Olivia Langdon.

Mrs. Clemens was Miss Olivia L. Langdon, daughter of Jervis Langdon, of Elmira, N. Y. When Mark Twain was returning on the Quaker City from the tour of Europe, which supplied the material for "The Innocents Abroad," he met Miss Langdon's brother.

Later Mr. Clemens got a newspaper assignment which brought him to the Langdon household in Elmira, and from that time dated the romance which did not end with the singularly happy marriage in 1870.

For some years Miss Langdon had been confined to her bed with what was apparently an incurable disease. Apparently in direct answer to her fervent prayers, she was restored to health. The cure was the sensation of Elmira, and young Clemens was sent out there to interview Miss Langdon on her recovery.

He obtained the interview and an interest was aroused between the two that quickly developed into love.

Miss Langdon's parents were at first strongly opposed to Clemens as a husband for her, and the newspaper man's great timidity for some time stood in the way of further progress to his suit.

He finally screwed up courage to speak to Mr. Langdon, and one morning timidly entered his future father-in-law's private office.

In his embarassment, Mark stammered:

"Mr. Langdon—have you—noticed anything—between—your daughter—and—me?"

"No," shouted the objecting parent, wheeling sharply so as to get a full view of his visitor.

"Well," said the young man, as he turned to the door, ready for instant flight, "if you—keep—a—sharp—lookout—you—WILL!"

Clemens so far overcame the objections of Miss Langdon's parents to his marriage that when the event took place his father-in-law presented him to a house in Buffalo and a third interest in the Buffalo Express.

The city never attracted him, however, and before long he had sold out his interest there and moved away.

The domestic life of the Clemenses was almost unclouded, except for the loss of their daughter, Olivia Langdon Clemens, at a time when she was winning fame and fortune by her music.

Mrs. Clemens was an ideal mother as well as wife. Like her husband, but even more than he, she was a home lover. She never cared for society.

Helped Husband in Difficulties.

In the publishing enterprise which Mark Twain entered nearly twenty years ago and which ended so disastrously, Mrs. Clemens had invested a large sum in cash, almost as much in fact, as all the rest of the liabilities combined. The author gave her control of the copyrights on his books.

With her aid he paid 50 per cent of the libailites remaining, and then the two started out togther on that wonderful lecture tour around the world in order that every cent of indebtedness might be wiped out. Through that long and arduous journey Mrs. Clemens supported her husband with the sympathetic help which he, then over 50 years of age, so much needed. The result was the complete liquidation of all debts against the defunct firm of Charles L. Webster & Co., though Mark Twain was liable for only two-thirds of the amount. His achievement is without parallel among literary men since the time of Sir Walter Scott.

Mark Twain's sister-in-law, the widow of Orion Clemens, once related an incident which pictures the humorist's unselfish love for his wife.

"My best thoughts always come to me when I am in bed," he said.

"Why don't you write them down?"

"What! Disturb Livie? No, indeed. She is worth all thoughts—and more besides."

Last fall Mr. Clemens was advised by physicians to take Mrs. Clemens to Italy for the winter, and, shortly before the winter opened, they sailed for that country. For a while she improved, but recently her health had been declining.

This Testimony

Will surely interest many readers of this paper.

James G. Gray, Gibson, Mo., writes about Drake's Palmetto Wine as follows: I live in the Missouri Swamps in Dunklin County and have been sick with Malarial fever and for fifteen months a walking skeleton. One bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine has done me more good than all the medicine I have taken in that fifteen months. I am buying two more bottles to stay cured. Drake's Palmetto Wine is the best medicine and tonic for Malaria, Kidney and Liver ailments I ever used or heard of. I feel well now after using one bottle.

A. A. Felding, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: I had a bad case of sour Stomach and Indigestion. I could eat so little that I was "falling to bones" and could not sleep nor attend to my business. I used the trial bottle and two large seventy-five cent bottles and can truthfully say I am entirely cured. I have advised many to write for a free trial bottle.

J. W. Moore, Monticello, Minn., makes the following statement about himself and a neighbor. He says: Four bottles of Drake's Palmetto Wine has cured me of catarrh of Bladder and Kidney trouble. I suffered ten years and spent hundreds of dollars with best doctors and specialists without benefit. Drake's Palmetto Wine has made me a well man. A young woman here was given up to die by a Minneapolis specialist and he and our local doctor said they could do no more for her. She has been taking Drake's Palmetto Wine one week and is rapidly recovering.

The Drake Formula Company, Drake Bldg., Chicago, Ill., will send a trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine free and prepaid to any reader of this paper. A letter or postal card is your only expense to get this free bottle.

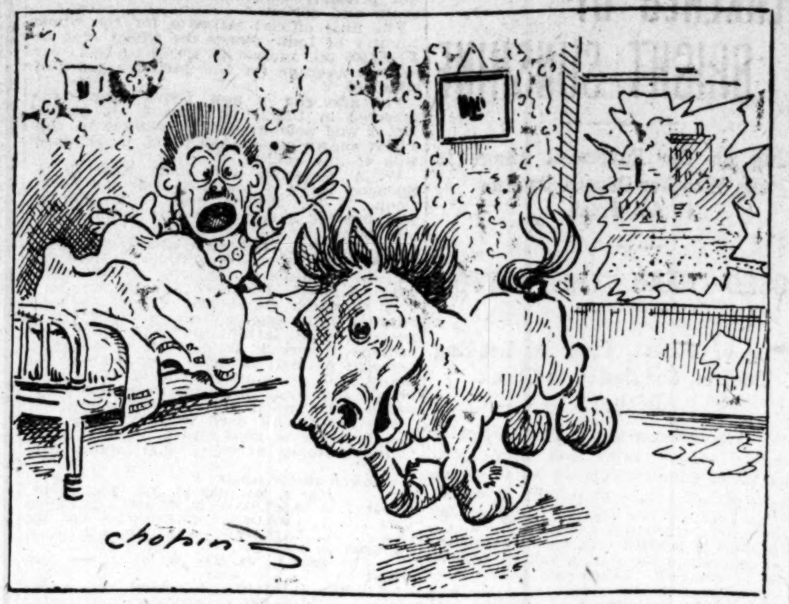
A REAL NIGHTMARE IN NO DISGUISE WAS RICHARD WURM'S SEVERE SURPRISE



Oftentimes she's been in sight there,
 Standing just beside the bed,
Pretty, fiery little nightmare,
 Tossing up her jaunty head.
But alas! She is a creature
 Of our ill-at-liver dreams,
And we know we cannot reach her,
 For she is not what she seems.

But it seems 'tis not the same with
 Mr. Wurm, who lifts his head
From a dream to see no mere myth,
 But a pony by the bed.
"What!" said Mr. Wurm, astounded,
 And the terror on his face
Sent the pony, sore confounded,
 Down the hall at racing pace.

A real nightmare was the lot of Richard Wurm of 1626 Park avenue Sunday afternoon. Mr. Wurm was ill and in bed, when a pony bounded into the room, giving the sick man a fright. The pony belonged to Alexander Miller of 1900 Louisiana avenue, and it ran away in queer places. It ran from the stable to the Wurm home, jumped through a window of the house, and passed through different rooms and down the hall, emerging into the back yard, where it was captured. Mr. Wurm was in one of the rooms through which the pony ran.

Colorado's Governor Here.

Gov. and Mrs. James H. Peabody of Colorado have arrived in St. Louis and are at the Planters. Gov. Peabody's principal reason for coming to St. Louis at this time was to attend a meeting of the Colorado World's Fair commission, which was held at the Planters Sunday evening, at which expenditures for the different exhibits were discussed. He will remain in the city until Wednesday.

Unfair Competition.

An article of high quality is always in danger of substitution; hence we are compelled to warn the public against deception. In many instances, other beers are served when "Budweiser" is ordered, on account of the higher price of the latter to the trade. See that bottles are opened in your presence, and corks are branded "Budweiser," or crown stoppers are provided with our A and Eagle trademark.

Preferred Death to Debt.

To escape the worry of money difficulties Frank H. Timken, aged 36, attempted to commit suicide Sunday in the office of the St. Louis Produce Co., 408 Franklin avenue, where he is employed. He had locked the doors and windows and turned on the gas, when Patrolman Parks of the Fourth district, smelling the gas, broke in the door and found Timken unconscious. He was sent to the City Dispensary, where he was revived.

An Investigation Shows Why
QUICK MEAL
GAS RANGES
Are Better Than Any Other Make.

"Quick Meal" Burners are shaped so as not to gather dirt that drops down while cooking. They cannot clog up like the old style burner with little jet holes.

Quick Meal Oven Door is balanced with a weight and has no spring or catches to get out of order. It also has a Cold Handle Bar, which prevents you from burning your fingers while handling the oven door.

Quick Meal Gas Ranges are first in number sold, first in Quality, and are the only Gas Ranges made in St. Louis that are indorsed by the Gas Company. We are selling them at very low prices.
